Records Fall As 71,356 Register Here

DEMOCRATS TAKE LEAD

Smashing all previous records and expectations, registration of Orange county voters for the August primary election soared to 71,356, County Clerk Basil J. Smith announced today.

Despite a probably considerable amount of duplicate registrations which remain to be weeded out, the total will stand well above any previous mark, Smith said.

Bourbons Gain

A closing rush of voters to the registration offices swept the Democratic majority over the Republicans up from 5788 as it stood on June 6 to 8609 at the present time, a gain of 2821 for the Democrats in the month-and-a-half period. The Democrats now have 38,461, the Republicans 29,882. A widespread transfer of Townsend voters to the Democratic ranks at the eleventh hour accounted only partially for the gain. The Townsend registration dropped from 1918 on June 6 to 1102 for the primary.

Both assembly districts of the county and four of the five supervisorial districts thus stand with a Democratic majority. The fourth supervisorial district, including Orange and environs, however, continued to withstand the Democratic advance and remained the Republican stronghold of the county, with 3758 Republican and 3416 Democratic voters, a lead of 342 for the GOP.

Third District Leads

The third supervisorial district leads in registration with a total of 22,727, including 12,241 Democrats and 9677 Republicans. The first supervisorial district (Santa Ana) has 19,675, including 10,771 Democrats and 8904 Republicans. The fifth district, including the south coast beaches, has 11,859, including 6301 Democrats and 5509 Republicans. The second district has 9494, including 5782 Democrats and 3712 Republicans. The fourth district total is 7591.

The Democrats increased 1010 in the first district since June 6, while the Republicans were gaining 75. In the second district, the Democrats gained 727, the Republicans 274. The third district showed the Democrats gaining 1600, the Republicans 709. In the fourth district the Democrats made up some ground, gaining 434 to 234 for the Republicans. In the fifth district, the Democrats gain was 781, the Republicans 438. The total Democratic gain was 4552, the Republican gain being 1730.

The 74th assembly district, covering northern and western Orange county, has a registration of 22,221, including 17,973 Democrats, 12,992 Republicans, 345 Townsend, 703 declining to state party, 30 Socialist, 135 Prohibition, 41 Progressive and 2 Communist.

South District Leads

The 75th district, including Santa Ana, Orange and southern Orange county, has a registration of 29,135, including 20,488 Democrats, 16,860 Republicans, 757 Townsend, 840 declining to state, 39 Socialist, 129 Prohibition, 20 Progressive and 2 Communist.

County totals by party affiliation aside from the two major parties already given, include: Townsend 1102, Socialist 69, Prohibition 264, Progressive 61, Communist 4, declining to state, 1543. Decreases were recorded in the Townsend, Socialist and Prohibition totals. The Progressives increased from 25 to 61, and the Communists from 3 to 4.

BOND ISSUE PASSES

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Aug. 3.—(UP)—Incomplete returns indicated today Sacramento voters have approved a $733,000 bond issue for public improvements and authorized acceptance of $600,000 in federal PWA funds to aid the work. Projects include new sewer construction, additions to the water system and development of a main-line airport.

R. R. EXECUTIVES, TRAINMEN FAIL TO AGREE ON WAGE CUT

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—(UP)—The railroad and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen announced jointly today that they had failed to come to an agreement on the roads' proposed 15 per cent wage cut and would submit the case to a federal mediator.

They had been conferring since July 15. The announcement was made by H. A. Enoch, chairman of the Carriers' joint conference committee, and A. F. Whitney, president of the brotherhood.

Enoch said he would phone Dr. W. M. Leiserson, chairman of the national mediation board, and ask his services. Leiserson acted as mediator last year when the brotherhoods obtained an eight per cent wage increase.

Whitney said he had filed the plan today to investigate a series of three forest fires in the Sequoia National Forest.

Enoch said he expects George M. Harrison, president of the Railway Labor Executives Association, representing 18 other brotherhoods, to be ready for mediation Monday. He hoped the mediator could merge the two labor groups for the purposes of mediation.

MAYTAG STRIKERS SEEK COMPROMISE

DES MOINES, Iowa, Aug. 3.—(UP)—Striking union employees of the Maytag Washing Machine company, through their executive committee, offered to accept a 10 per cent wage cut providing they be permitted to share in the company's profits between July 1, 1938, and July 1, 1939.

In a telegram to E. H. Maytag, company president, the executive committee offered to make the concession in an effort to reach a speedy settlement of the 13 week old controversy.

Seek Conference

Maytag or his son, Frederick II, a vice president, were asked to meet the committee in an open conference in Des Moines at 2 p. m. to discuss the offer as a basis for settlement.

"We are ready to concede in this matter, feeling that the main interest of both the company and the union must be a speedy reconciliation and resumption of plant operations," the telegram said.

The union's offer came just 24 hours before the National Labor Relations Board prepared to deny Governor Kraschel and resume its hearing into charges that the Maytag company has been guilty of unfair labor practices.

N. L. R. B. PREPARED TO DEFY KRASCHEL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(UP)—The National Labor Relations Board today sent its general counsel, Charles Fahy and Associate General Counsel Robert Watts to Des Moines, Iowa, for resumption of hearings against the Maytag company in defiance of Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel and the Iowa National Guard.

FRESNO, Aug. 3.—(UP)—Sheriff's deputies and CCC enrollees today launched a search for Edward Trunkle, 28, of Parlier, and Ray McBride, of Trimmer Springs, believed to have drowned in the Kings river near Trimmer Springs, 30 miles east of here Sunday.

Their disappearance was reported to the sheriff's office last night. A preliminary investigation revealed the two men went swimming in the river Sunday afternoon. Their clothes were found in a clump of bushes.

New Pension Plan Rapped

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 3.—(UP)—California's proposed initiative measure for a "50 every Thursday" pension plan was attacked from two sources here today.

A brief filed by Ruth Brown, Los Angeles taxpayer and property owner, before the state supreme court asked that the measure be barred from the November ballot.

Seek Mandate

The court, which is to act tomorrow on this petition and one filed previously by Tess Marie Saline, also of Los Angeles, was asked to issue a writ of mandate removing the initiative from the ballot on the contention that its title was

ENGLISHMAN KILLED IN NIPPON AIR RAID

SHANGHAI, Aug. 3.—(UP)—Japanese combat planes shot down 32 Chinese planes near Hankow, a Japanese naval communiqué said tonight.

The Japanese communiqué said 54 Chinese planes, mainly of British, Soviet and American build, clashed with a Japanese squadron and were routed. The communiqué also said seven "cleverly camouflaged" Chinese planes were destroyed on the ground at the Hankow airbase.

Briton Killed

Japanese aircraft blasted rail and river traffic in the Yangtze valley. Their activities included setting afire a Chinese maritime customs launch and killing J. T. C. Crawley, British customs officer, and two Chinese.

Officers of H. M. S. Gnat, a British gunboat, reported that six Japanese airplanes bombed and machine-gunned the customs boat, which was anchored 35 miles below Hankow.

Wife Sees Tragedy

The Japanese planes flew low over the Gnat but did not attack it. Crawley was hit while wading ashore. His body floated down the river and was recovered by fishermen. Mrs. Crawley, who was aboard the launch, was taken to a hospital, suffering from shock.

A Japanese spokesman said he had no information about the bombing of the customs launch. However, he declared, customs vessels in that vicinity "operated by servants of the Hankow regime" and never have any responsibility for assurance that customs ships do not serve military purposes.

U. S. Dollar Hits High In London

LONDON, Aug. 3.—(UP)—Near panic demand from European nations swept the United States dollar and bar gold forward today to the highest levels in 16 months.

Gold takings exceeded $14,500,000 in the open market, a new record, while sterling slipped closer toward its old dollar parity.

The pound opened at $1.4975, down 1/16 cents from yesterday's level and about 14 cents below the year's high reached in February. The unit was hammered down to $1.4856 by the time of the gold price fixing, or less than 3 cents above its old dollar parity.

Intervention by the $2,500,000,000 British equalization fund halted the sterling break about a half hour after the market opened.

Thermometer Hits 91 In New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(UP)—New York's millions sweltered today as the thermometer rose to 91 degrees, a new record for the year. A blanket WPA order said that employees "should not be required to work under conditions which might result in death or serious illness because of exposure to sun or extreme heat."

The order advised project engineers and supervisors to suspend work where necessary because of the heat.

Rangers Survey Forest Fires

PORTERVILLE, Cal., Aug. 3.—(UP)—Forest rangers left here by plane today to investigate a series of three forest fires in the Sequoia National Forest.

A blaze in the Kern river area near Fairview, thought to have been started by lightning, has burned nearly 200 acres. Rangers believe it is now under control.

Two other fires were reported in the Bartolas area northeast of Kernville. Their extent was not known.

$2,000,000 Fire Wrecks Vancouver Waterfront

This little fireboat wasn't much good against the spectacular blaze that swept Pier D, largest docks of the Canadian Pacific Steamship company at Vancouver, B. C. Destroying the pier, a heavily-stocked freight shed beside it and part of a ramp connecting a railway station with the docks, the fire did $2,000,000 damage and threatened for a time to destroy the entire waterfront and the wholesale district bordering it. The section of the pier shown in the photo was a complete ruin a few minutes after the picture was taken.

Pendergast Kansas City Machine Loses; Virginia Hits New Deal

RESULTS OF BALLOTING YESTERDAY IN 4 STATES

(by United Press)

VIRGINIA — Rep. Howard W. Smith, D., who opposed New Deal measures in Congress almost as often as he supported them, easily won renomination from the eighth district over William E. Dodd, Jr., son of the former ambassador to Germany, who ran as a 100 per cent New Dealer with the support of Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes and other high administration officials. In the second district, former Rep. Colgate W. Darden defeated the incumbent, Rep. Norman R. Hamilton, for the Democratic nomination.

MISSOURI — Sen. Bennett Clark, an occasional opponent of New Deal policies, easily won Democratic renomination. The Republicans nominated former Governor Henry Caulfield to oppose him in the fall election. Gov. Lloyd C. Stark demonstrated that the T. J. Pendergast machine of Kansas City could not effectively extend its potency beyond its municipal borders. His candidate for the Democratic supreme court nomination was the apparent victor over the Pendergast candidate.

KANSAS — Kansas refused Republican Senatorial nomination to the Rev. Gerald Winrod, foe of Jews and Catholics and called "the Jayhawk Hitler." Former Gov. Clyde M. Reed, apparent victor with Winrod running third. Rep. W. P. Labertson, R., blacklisted by labor's Non-Partisan League, apparently won renomination. Payne H. Ratner won the Republican gubernatorial nomination. Gov. Walter A. Huxman was unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

WEST VIRGINIA — Three New Deal Congressmen leading and apparently renominated. The three other Democratic Congressmen were unopposed.

Thumbing Proves Quick As Train

GLOBE, Ariz., Aug. 3.—(UP)—The thumb is as quick as a train. Delbert Presler, 14, and Frank Ovrstreet, 12, averred here today.

The two boys arrived here, hitchhiking their way back to their home in Pima, California, after a visit to an uncle in Antler, Okla.

"We split wood," they said, "and got enough money to send mother on the train and $10 for ourselves."

Their mother is Mrs. Frank Ovrstreet, of Pima.

"We reached here the same day she did," they added. "We still have $2."

The boys rode into Globe last night and immediately began waving their thumbs toward Pima.

"Baby Clipper" Lands In S. F.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 3.—(UP)—Pan American Airways' "Baby Clipper" landed on San Francisco Bay today for a brief stop preparatory to continuing north for a survey flight over a proposed "outside ocean air route" from Seattle to Juneau, Alaska.

The clipper, which landed at Glendale, Cal., last night after a 2500-mile flight from Miami, Fla., will leave here with I. Yuravich, chief government inspector of international airlines, aboard.

Yuravich will accompany Capt. J. M. Mattie, flight commander, and the clipper's crew on the Alaskan survey flight.

Navy In Plans For Mass Flights

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 3.—(UP)—Three long-distance mass flights by naval patrol bombers, two to Hawaii and one to Panama, were planned today by naval aviation authorities.

A total of 48 planes will take part in the last three flights scheduled for this year.

U. S. Begins Ballot Quiz

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(UP)—The Senate campaign expenditures committee broadened its investigation of the Kentucky primary today and increased its staff of investigators. Conditions there, the committee charged, were such as to "imperil the right of the people to a free and unpoluted ballot."

Without mentioning names, the committee charged that the campaign forces of Sen. Barkley, who is backed by Roosevelt for the state's Democratic Senatorial nomination, and his opponent, Gov. A. B. Chandler, were equally guilty of improper tactics.

Employ Assistants

Chairman Morris Sheppard, D., Tex., revealed that H. Ralph Burton, committee investigator, had employed "three or four" assistants to extend the investigation. Sheppard said that the committee

Find Missing Boy After 36 Hours

SEQUOIA NATIONAL FOREST, Cal., Aug. 3.—(UP)—Exhausted and half-starved, Leonard Darrow, 13-year-old Bakersfield schoolboy, stumbled into a road construction camp here last night after being lost in the rugged Frog Meadow country 36 hours.

He spent the night in the camp and was turned over to forest rangers this morning.

Accompanied by his pet dog, young Darrow left the mountain camp of his sister and brother-in-law Monday morning. The animal returned alone Monday evening. Yesterday a large force of rangers took up the hunt but found no trace of the boy.

Darrow said he had no food during his long trek through the mountains. Clothed only in overalls, he was suffering from exposure.

Start Work On Mexican Highway

PHOENIX, Ariz., Aug. 3.—(UP)—Rapid improvement of the Mexican section of the International Highway was forecast here today with announcement that $104,000 new equipment has been put in operation on the portion between Hermosillo, Mex., and Guaymas, Mex.

Don Smith, representative of the international highway group, said "recent internal unrest in Mexico in no way affected the progress of the work and that equipment would soon be placed in work on the highway between Nogales, Ariz., and Santa Ana, Mex."

The highway is part of the north-south route, which is expected eventually to reach from Alaska to Buenos Aires to form "the longest road on earth."

Boy "Scalped" In Realistic Game

BOSTON, Aug. 3.—(UP)—A game of cowboys and Indians was given a realistic touch when one of the boy participants was "scalped."

The cowboys' cries of "Heigh-o Silver!" so angered Walter Jasion, 10, a blond youngster, that he was chased and caught seven year old Don O'Brien. He jerked two tufts of blond hair from the youngster's scalp. In court Mrs. O'Brien showed two bald spots, each the size of a half dollar, on Don's head and Jasion was fined $100.

RETALIATION PLEA VOICED

MOSCOW, Aug. 3.—(UP)—Resentment against Japan reached a high pitch today at nationwide meetings of workers who passed resolutions demanding decisive punishment of the Japanese for "border violations" in Siberia.

An official communiqué said that further fighting on the Manchukuan frontier was inevitable.

Russian resentment was exemplified in an editorial in Pravda, Communist party organ, which said:

Bitter Charges

"The Fascist birds of prey are grinding their knife to attack the Soviets. Our frontiers are the object of craving for the jackals and hyenas of Fascism, but our frontier guards of the Red Army are vigilantly protecting the Soviet borders."

"The frantic Japanese militarists have carried out a new provocation, having invaded Soviet territory," the editorial continued. "This insolent aggression has caused deep indignation in the entire Soviet nation."

Typical of the resolutions passed by the workers was one at the aviation factory in Moscow. It said:

Ask Retaliation

"We hope that in the future the Red Army and fleet will continue crushing all attacks of any enemy. We ask the government not to leave without retaliating the provocations of Japanese militarists."

"Let the fascists feel on their hides the force and power of our motherland and the moral and political unity of the Soviet people."

JAPAN PREPARES FOR BOMB RAIDS

TOKYO, Aug. 3.—(UP)—Emergency light control regulations were ordered in eastern Japan, including Tokyo, and in all of northern Korea today as fighting continued on the Siberian frontier.

In Tokyo, the regulations, which are effective tomorrow, will exempt street lights, traffic signals and lights necessary for work outdoors for the present.

Evacuate City

In northern Korea, however, strict regulations were imposed effective forthwith as a precaution against air raids, and inhabitants of Keiko, on the Korean frontier near the coast, began evacuating the city.

The rich Osaka industrial district and Fukuoka prefecture in southwestern Japan already were under strict light control regulations. Extension of the air defense precautions was ordered as a foreign office spokesman asserted that Russian artillery opened up a bombardment of the Japanese lines on the frontier this afternoon, following infantry attacks in two sectors.

Block Threatened "Corrigan" War

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(UP)—The ruckus over whether Manhattan or Brooklyn boroughs shall be the first to greet Douglas Corrigan on his return from Ireland caused the United States Lines to order its liner Manhattan to slow down today so that it will not arrive until 6 p. m. Thursday.

At that hour, it was believed, it would be too late for anybody to hold a parade and perhaps a battle in the harbor between the rival reception committees could be avoided. Each committee had a boat ready to dash out into the harbor and snatch Corrigan off the ship.

State Board To Hold Hearings

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Aug. 3.—(UP)—The state board of equalization was scheduled today to hear a petition of the city of Los Angeles for reassessment of its holdings in Owens valley.

The city also asked the board to classify as personal property and therefore exempt from taxation machinery in the Los Angeles City Power Plant at Seal Beach.

LOYALISTS DRIVE WEDGE INTO REBEL LINES; CLAIM VICTORY

HENDAYE, FRENCH-SPANISH FRONTIER, Aug. 3.—(UP)—Loyalist forces today drove a deep wedge into Teruel Province, from which the Nationalists had withdrawn troops to stem the Republican push in the Ebro sector.

Barcelona claimed that Loyalist troops were advancing on the important communications center at Albaracin, 16 miles west of Teruel after filtering into the Universales Mountains and capturing the town of Pias.

Critical Spot

Albaracin, it was claimed, was almost completely surrounded, and its capture was imminent. This would place the Loyalists in a position to start a flanking attack. On the western slopes of the SKY MONSTER FLIES OVER S. A.

Aviation's newest sky monster, the DC-4, giant Douglas transport plane, winged its way over Santa Ana this morning in what was apparently a test flight.

The 42-passenger plane that attracted the attention of hundreds of Santa Anans as it flew over the city at an altitude of approximately 2000 feet weighs 65,000 pounds and is capable of a speed of 250 miles per hour.

Officials of the Eddie Martin airport today said they were not informed of any projected flight but presumed the "Leviathan of the air" was on a trial flight.

Beach Auxiliary Wins In Contest

First place in the 21st district, an area including both Orange and Riverside counties, has been awarded American Legion auxiliary unit 200 of Seal Beach, for the history book compiled by Mrs. Ann McLaughlin, historian of the beach units, according to Mrs. Ruby Mayes, publicity chairman.

Laguna Beach placed second, and the Tustin unit took third place. Judging of the books submitted by units throughout the district took place at the home of the district president, Pauline Cleary, 2422 Palmont avenue, Santa Ana. Mrs. Pearl Lamb of Santa Ana; Mrs. Edna Elliott of Anaheim; and Mrs. Dorothy Powell of Corona, served as judges.

Attending the covered dish luncheon, held in conjunction with judging of the books and a meeting of the district executive board, were Department President Laureline Ellison and Department Parliamentarian Bertha Elsey, both of Long Beach. Executive board members from Seal Beach who attended were Mrs. Faye Moffitt and Mrs. Dagmar Schmidt. Mrs. Ruby Mayes, unit president, also attended.

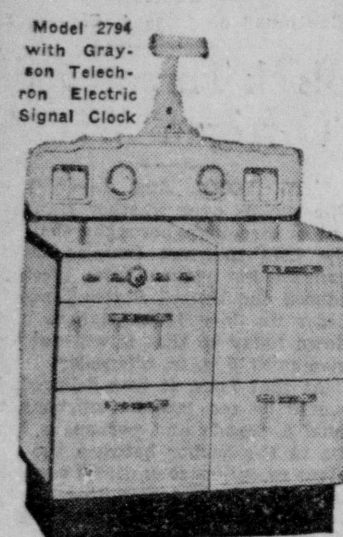

BOAT TRAILER STOLEN

Harry Pearce of Pasadena reported to sheriff's officers yesterday, the theft of a boat trailer from 1400 Bay View avenue, Sunset Beach. A neighbor told him she saw a tow-truck haul the trailer away last Thursday or Friday. She gave officers the truck's license number, reports show.

A new and efficient microphone and connecting cable has recently been devised for airplane service. It is highly directional, picking up a minimum of external noise.

CHAOS SEEN IN NIPPON VICTORY

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 3.—If Japan succeeds in conquering China and capturing the rich Oriental markets, European civilization will slip back to the simplicity of four hundred years ago.

This was the statement of Will Durant, famous author and philosopher, now teaching in the Summer Session on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California in a recent lecture on "The World Conflict: A Study of the International Situation."

"Drop Its Feuds"
Domination of the wealthy Oriental trade markets by Europe has provided the riches with which to build the mellow Western civilization of today, the philosopher declared. The only way Europe can save itself is drop its feuds and unite against the threatening East.

"I believe European civilization is worth preserving," Durant stated. "The only way to do this is for the 'have' nations to make concessions to the 'have not' nations. I am glad to see that this is being done in the policy of Neville Chamberlain toward Italy and Germany."

Recognize Ethiopia
"The democracies should recognize the conquest of Ethiopia. It is best to sacrifice a little morality to save the whole structure. I would support the division of Czechoslovakia to pacify Germany; although I would hate to see the brave little nation destroyed, she is endangering the peace of Europe."

With a united Europe, Durant declared that he would favor the United States joining in a common front to stop the war in China. But if Japan refused to yield to the demands of Europe, the philosopher would let Europe fight Japan, since a united Continent could easily defeat the island empire and the United States has nothing to gain in such a war.

Democracy First Casualty
The so-called clash between democracy and dictatorship will have nothing to do with the next war, he described as mere words to be used as tools for the indoctrination of the masses.

"Democracy will be the first casualty of the next war. The only agency swift enough to carry on a modern war is a dictatorship," Durant declared.

Man Loans Woman Friend His Car— "Does Me Wrong"

L. Gutierrez, Los Alamitos man, complained to Deputy Sheriff Steve Duhart yesterday that he apparently has been put on the "done him wrong" list inasmuch as the automobile he loaned a Sunset Beach woman two weeks ago cannot be found.

"She wanted to borrow my car for a day or two, she told me," Gutierrez said. "I haven't seen the car since. I went to her home but found she had taken all of her belongings and left."

Gutierrez alleged the "long-time borrower" is Mrs. Christina Patterson. She is being sought for questioning regarding the "overtime borrowing."

Police News

Deputy Sheriffs Ives Brown and Ed Hoffman were called to 17th and Wright streets at 5:50 p. m. yesterday to investigate activities of "peeping Toms." Tony Silva and Arletta Houk told the officers several boys had been looking through a window into the Houk home.

THIEF STEALS VACATION CASH

Near calamity struck at a Sunset Beach summer home yesterday afternoon as the county's "meanest thief" stole the vacation money of three Los Angeles girls, Deputy Sheriffs Tom Murphree and Frank Cagle were informed during an investigation.

The girls are Catherine and Rosalie Phillips and Ann Woolf, who are vacationing at a cottage, 520 15th street, Sunset Beach.

Locks Door Again
"We left for a swim at 3:40 p. m. and returned at 5:10 p. m.," Catherine said. "Our purses had been ransacked. I lost $30; Rosalie, $1, and Ann, $10 which we needed for our vacation."

The investigation showed someone used a pass key to enter the cottage and, after the theft, locked the door again. Catherine also lost her Red Cross Life Saving card, a junior college preference card and several snapshots. The thief overlooked most of Rosalie's vacation money, the officers were told.

Dramas Open At Broadway Today

With the reproduction of the lobby of a swank London hotel as the opening locale, Freddie Bartholomew returns to the screen in his first role in a year in "Lord Jeff," which opens an engagement today at the Broadway.

The new picture, with Freddie and Mickey Rooney teamed as high school-age "buddies," finds the training school of the Barnardo Homes, British merchant marines institution. Herbert Mundin and Gale Sondergaard are among the players. The story deals with a boy, tool of crooks and represented to be a young nobleman, who finds regeneration at the famous school.

A startling new light is thrown upon industrial warfare in "Highway Patrol," second attraction, which has a cast headed by Robert Paige and Jacqueline Wells. The picture concerns a plot to destroy a great oil refinery whose owner is resisting the move of competitors to raise the price of gasoline and a young highway patrolman's expose of the plot. A color cartoon and World News events completes the bill.

Twenty-eight training classes in volunteer life-saving were conducted; 16 demonstrations of safety in the water were given; eight rescue squad meetings for the purpose of giving instructions, were held; and six volunteer rescue squads were trained. The report shows an average of 14,300 persons visited Orange county beaches daily.

EAST FEELS FATAL FURY OF TORRENTIAL RAINS

Water-swept Highways Take Toll

Skidding down a steep, water-soaked hill near Hackettstown, N. J., the inter-city bus, seen in the photo above, struck a slight rise at the side of the road with one of her front wheels, then struck a concrete abutment with a rear wheel, and, as a result, turned over on her side, killing one passenger and injuring nine more. This was one of the more serious of thousands of accidents caused by the heavy rains which have played havoc in states along the Atlantic Seaboard.

Rampaging Stream Isolates Town

Ordinarily placid, the rivers and streams of Ulster and Sullivan counties, in up-State New York, reached flood-stage under the effects of the torrential rains which have deluged the East for a week, swept away bridges, barns, garages and outbuildings and caused summer vacationists to flee. In the photo above, the waters of Rondout Creek are shown swirling around a wooden bridge they washed down. The flooded creek isolated the village of Sundown, N. Y.

Navy Plane Pelted Down; 3 Dead

The scattered debris seen in the photo above is all that's left of a Navy bomber which crashed in a vegetable patch near New Haven, Conn., during a blinding rain squall in the series of storms which have racked the East, and carried three Navy fliers to their deaths. Lieut. J. F. McDonough, of Boston; Lieut. William J. Drumtra, of Gloucester, Mass., and John R. Patch, of Boston, were en route from Norfolk, Va., to the naval base at Squantum, Mass., when they encountered the storm and crashed.

Yesterday, Clark repeated—but this time with Pendergast's blessing—and swamped three opponents by getting almost three times as many votes as his combined opposition, thus setting him up as a first class political power in Missouri.

NEW DEAL OPPONENT WINS IN VIRGINIA
RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 3.—(UP)—Sen. Howard C. Smith, often congressional opponent of the New Deal and who charged that he was the objective of its "purge," easily won re-nomination today in the Democratic primary.

He defeated William E. Dodd, Jr., son of the former Ambassador to Germany, who ran as a "100 per cent New Deal" candidate, making the question of loyalty to the New Deal an issue, and who had the backing of Secretary of Interior Harold I. Ickes and other high administration officials.

Three to One
Smith's ratio was better than three to one. With three precincts of the eighth Virginia district unreported, the count was: Smith, 18,455; Dodd, 6,456.

Dodd did not win one of the 15 counties of the district. In the second congressional district, former Congressman Colgate W. Darden defeated the incumbent, Rep. Norman R. Hamilton, for the nomination. Of the district's 128 precincts, complete unofficial totals gave Darden 18,934; Hamilton, 13,589.

REED WINS G.O.P. SENATORIAL NOMINATION
TOPEKA, Kans., Aug. 3.—(UP)—Clyde M. Reed, former governor, will contest Kansas' Senatorial seat with the Democratic incumbent, George A. McGill, in the November election.

He won an overwhelming victory in Tuesday's primary over a field of four candidates, including the Rev. Gerald B. Winrod, tabulation of more than three-fourths of the state's vote showed today.

Fought London
Reed, who frequently had engaged in bitter political feuds with Alf M. Landon, 1936 G.O.P. standard-bearer, in previous campaigns, led his nearest opponent by almost 40,000 votes. The Rev. Winrod, the Wichita evangelist who spent $22,000 in the campaign according to his report to the senate, was hopelessly outclassed from the beginning of the tabulations.

Reed's closest opponent was Dallas Knapp, a veteran state legislator. Reed is from Parsons and another victor in a major Republican contest, that for the gubernatorial nomination, comes from the same town. He is Payne Ratner, 42 years old, who won the nomination for governor by 25,000 votes. He led in a field of four and his nearest opponent was Harold McGugin, former congressman, who spent some of his campaign speaking time telling the voters that as attorney for Laura Barnett he rightfully earned $100,000 which the federal court had ordered him to repay to the estate of Jackson Barnett. Jackson Barnett was an illiterate Creek Indian who married the white woman after oil had made him a millionaire.

SIX INCUMBENTS RENOMINATED
CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 3.—(UP)—Six incumbent West Virginia congressmen, all listed as New Deal Democrats, were assured of renomination today on the basis of almost complete returns from Tuesday's primary election.

Three Democrats were unopposed—Rep. Jennings Randolph of Elkins, second district, Rep. John Kee of Bluefield, fifth, and Rep. Joe L. Smith, Beckley, sixth.

Rep. Robert L. Ramsey of Follansbee defeated Frank C. Haymond of Fairmont and J. S. Tost of Follansbee in the first district. Rep. Andrew Edmiston of Weston won the nomination from J. A. Crawford of Fayetteville in the third district, and Rep. George W. Johnson of Parkersburg defeated Edgar M. Utterback of Parkersburg in the fourth district.

On the Republican side, H. Roy Waugh of Buckhannon won the third district Congressional nomination from Clyde W. Ash of Williamsburg and Ott Rader of Summersville. In the fourth district, tee would be on hand for the primary balloting Saturday to watch for evidence of irregularities.

Six other investigators will watch the Tennessee primary Thursday. A committee member described that campaign as "gut-war politics" pointing toward an election contest before the Senate.

Push Inquiry
The committee said the Kentucky investigation would be pushed "in order that the full facts may be developed and presented to the Senate for its consideration and action."

This indicated, some observers believe, that the committee considered the Kentucky campaign as such that the right of the victor to a seat in the senate would be challenged in that body.

After hearing Burton's evidence, gathered over one-third of the state, the committee said it was "certain that organized efforts have been and are being made to control the vote of those on relief work."

Hurl Charges
Chandler forces charged that Barkley's backers had sought the help of federal office holders, and asserted that the WPA was working openly for the Senator.

WPA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins said the committee did not refer to WPA officials. He said he was informed that it "was not directed at anyone connected with the WPA but at persons entirely outside the WPA who sought to get relief workers to vote for one candidate or the other."

Barkley's group accused the Chandler organization of causing the state old age pension and unemployment insurance organizations to distribute payments in a manner calculated to aid Chandler.

Both candidates, in answering committee questionnaires said they knew of no instances of coercion of voters, or collection of campaign funds by others in their behalf.

In the Tennessee primary six men worked to develop evidence which Sen. David L. Walsh, D. Mass., said indicated "use of money on a lavish scale," coercion of voters and "an unbelievably low level in a political campaign."

Park Service To Set Up Bureau
WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(UP)—The National Park Service announced today that its United States travel bureau will open an office in San Francisco shortly.

It already maintains an office in New York City, and it was expected the two offices working with the New York and San Francisco expositions next year will materially stimulate travel.

"SUNSET" MISPLACED
BATH, Me. (UP)—Running to an automobile collision, Patrolman Frank Kinsbury had a little collision of his own and arrived at the accident scene looking like a misplaced sunset. He was crowned with a can full of brilliant orange paint knocked from a scaffold by a workman during the excitement.

ORANGE PERSONALS
ORANGE, Aug. 3.—Councilman and Mrs. Carl M. Carlson have returned from an interesting motor trip during which they traveled 6966 miles. They visited in Chicago, Minneapolis, Madison, Wis., Napoleon, N. D., and Dawson, Minn. Included in a homeward sight-seeing tour were Yellowstone park, Zion National park and Bryce canyon.

Jesse Paxton has been selected as life guard at the city plunge, following George Richardson's resignation.

T. H. Elijah, city clerk of Orange, left today for Chicago. He will be gone three weeks.

Edwin R. Montgomery of Pittsburg, Pa., is expected to arrive in Orange this month to visit his family at 823 East Walnut street. He also is to attend the American Legion National convention in Los Angeles.

Raymond V. Humphreys of Huntington won the nomination over L. M. Underwood of Middlebourne.

New Pension Plan Attacked

faulty and that its passage would violate the federal constitution.

The latest petition set forth that the title was "deceptive and tended to mislead voters." It charged that $7000 in state appropriations would be allotted by the state to inaugurate the plan and that state employees would be paid half of their salaries in warrants.

Violate Constitution
Issuance of such warrants, the petition stated, would violate the provision of the federal constitution which provides that no state may issue anything other than gold or silver, and their certificates, as legal tender.

The San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, meanwhile, took cognizance of the "surprising news" that more than a million Californians had signed the initiative petition.

The chamber said: "C. of C. Raps Plan
"The passage of the so-called $30 a week pension plan not only would fail to give any benefit whatever to the elderly people of California whose false hopes have been raised by a vision of life-long security but would create a condition of industrial and financial chaos in California which might continue for years after its inevitable collapse."

The chamber said the warrant redemption stamps needed to convert the warrants into cash would cost pensioners $1.04 for every $1 warrant except in the case of tax payments where for $5.40 a $30 tax claim could be adjusted. The chamber said merchants would not have to accept the warrants and claimed "abuses" would follow if state, county and city governments accepted them.

If the state court denies the two petitions tomorrow the measure will go on the ballot. If hearings are set it may or may not receive judicial approval.

Soviets Demand Retaliation

tors this morning. After a day of fighting yesterday, the spokesman said, upwards of two battalions of Russian infantry attacked the Japanese positions at Changkufeng and Shat-sooping at 7 a. m.

Japanese troops repulsed the attack, the spokesman said, and after an interlude of quiet the artillery began its bombardment.

The spokesman asserted that Russian planes made 10 attacks on the Japanese frontier positions in the Changkufeng area Monday and Tuesday. On one raid, at 6 p. m. yesterday, he said, 60 planes bombed Kojo, on the Korean side of the border.

BATTLE FOR POSSESSION OF STRATEGIC GROUNDS
WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(UP)—Soviet and Japanese troops clashing in the vicinity of Changkufeng, on the Siberian-Manchukuo-Korean border, are fighting over something more important than merely a hill or series of hills on the border.

They are battling for possession of strategic ground in the military and economic defenses of the two nations, it was revealed today in a study of new, detailed topographical maps of the area just received in Washington.

Strategic Area
The whole matter of the military defense of both Japan and Siberia, and the economic domination of northeastern Asia is bound up in possession of the strategic hills rising out of swamp land bordering on Possiet Bay, topographical experts said.

The hills are only about six and a half miles from the strategically important railway running from the newly developed port of Rashin, just south of Possiet Bay, to Kirin, and to other important points in northern Manchukuo. Modern artillery pieces located on these hills have this important rail line easily within shelling distance.

Yesterday, returning to the evening, Steve and Nikki are held up by Sarto. He puts his pistol. "I don't miss with this," he warns.

CHAPTER XII
AS Nikki and Steve moved over into the center of the clearing under the waving directions of the black automatic in Sarto's hand, they heard a rifle shot in the distance. It was followed by a second and a third and the sounds dotted a semicircle in the direction Steve and Nikki and Woody had taken when they left camp the day before.

Three shots, thought Steve, meant Uncle Jim, Rance and Woody were searching separately. Fiske probably was with one of them. He wouldn't be alone. One shot meant, of course, they hadn't found anything. They couldn't very well when the persons they hunted were safely back in camp. Well, they were back in camp anyway, thought Steve, if not too safe. He glanced at Sarto. The man was backing toward the cabin against which a rifle stood.

Of course, thought Steve, he'll watch the signal system. He watched Sarto jab the pistol into his hip pocket and stoop for the rifle and for a moment thought of making a break. If he made the trees he could at least warn the others. Then he was quickly disarmed the idea. Nikki would be left alone with the gunman.

Sarto's thoughts had gone along the same line. "Don't try it," he said with an evil grin. "I'll get one of you and it might be the girl."

He picked up the rifle and fired, not once but twice in the air. That will bring the others back, thought Steve, startled. If one shot meant no luck, certainly two shots would mean he and Nikki had been found. Before he had time to go further along that mental tangent, Sarto spoke.

"You two sit over by that tree. Face toward the fire and don't try anything. It wouldn't be healthy. When the others come in," he waved a casual arm in the direction from whence the shots had come, "don't try to give 'em any signs. I'll do the talking."

THEY sat down, their backs to the tree, facing the clearing and the cabin at their right. Sarto placed the rifle on the bench by the cabin and sat down also, the pistol held carelessly in his two hands.

"What's he going to do," whispered Nikki.

"I don't know," Steve answered. "Ambush the others when they come in I suppose." Steve whispered back. And then as he found the answer:

"He'll need someone to guide him back to the ranch."

They sat quietly for several minutes. Nikki shifted uncomfortably. After Sarto had ambushed the others, then what? He had murdered Bancroft. A man who had killed once probably wouldn't worry very much about repeating the crime. She remembered, suddenly, the day they had walked through Grand Central, she and Steve and her father. No hint of tragedy in the bright sunshine of that day, no warning of the things ahead. Then the money on the train and the realization that her father was somehow involved with the sinister Bancroft and his companion. She looked at the hunched figure on the bench. No, no. Her father couldn't be to blame for all this. He just couldn't. But Bancroft's reference to the "Jerome angle" kept coming back.

"Hungry?" asked Steve, with a quick glance at the gunman. "I guess so," said Nikki. "I hadn't thought about it."

"Sarto," called Steve. "We haven't eaten much lately. Couldn't we have a little food while we're waiting?"

"Shut up," said Sarto. "You'll get something to eat later—maybe."

"Isn't there some way we can warn the others?" whispered Nikki.

"I've been trying to think of a way," answered Steve. "But it's too dangerous now. Wait until the others get here."

"Cut out the chatter," said Sarto roughly. "Can it—all of it, see."

A MOMENT later they heard a halloo. Sarto came to abrupt attention. He slipped the rifle behind the bench where it would be out of sight but within easy reach. The automatic he held between his knees.

"Give 'em a call," he ordered Nikki. "Just one and don't try anything or—"

"Hello," called Nikki, but her voice wasn't very strong.

They could hear the crackle of the brush and the sound of footsteps now. A bird fluttered up in frightened haste. A second later Rance burst into the clearing.

"Nikki," he cried. "Thank God you're safe." He started toward the couple sitting by the tree. "What's the matter? Hurt? What's wrong?"

"Drop the rifle," it was Sarto. He was standing by the bench and the pistol in his hand covered all three.

Thousands Await S. A. Dollar Day

Many merchants have taken advantage of the opportunity for large-scale buying and are passing on to the buying public the savings that are accorded with large purchase orders.

Additions to the sales staffs and other preparations for handling the huge flood of customers are being planned by merchants to facilitate the service of the shoppers.

In co-operation with the merchants, The Register will print on the front page of Friday's paper a courtesy parking coupon that, when pasted on the windshield of a car, will permit the shopper unrestricted parking in the downtown section of the city.

The committee from the retail division of the chamber of commerce urges every housewife as well as others to make Dollar Day, on Saturday, a truly outstanding event.

Jewish Doctors Banned By Nazis
BERLIN, Aug. 3.—(UP)—The official Gazette today published a decree fixing Sept. 30, 1938, as the deadline after which Jews may no longer practice medicine in Germany.

The decree authorizes the minister of interior to postpone the deadline in "exceptional cases."

EL MODENA, Aug. 3.—Unless the attorney general makes a ruling prohibiting the early opening of schools for Mexican children, Lincoln school will open August 11, according to announcement today by J. D. Rossier, principal.

Rossier, a former principal in the school, replaces Stanley Frutz as principal. Kurtz has accepted a position as principal of the Centralia school. Paul Stoner replaces Rossier on the faculty and there is a possibility that another teacher may be added.

Other teachers are Mrs. Janet Robbins, Miss Margaret Westover, Mrs. Eunice Klopstad, Mrs. Mary Barnett and Miss Marilyn Winther.

Christian Church Society To Meet

SEEK GROUPS AS EFFECTIVE

That there are powerful groups as well as many individuals in this country who would be willing for this country to go to war was the consensus of Century Toastmasters club last night.

The question was proposed by Paul E. Bakkenhus, instances of special interests who might find it possible were urged as evidence of a latent war spirit; also that there is a somewhat prevalent feeling that a war would bring prosperity. But that there is a general desire for war, or that a majority want war, was doubted by most of the speakers.

Plan Novel Program
The club proposed as a special program for Aug. 23, a political night, in which members would impersonate or represent candidates for office. It is planned as one of the lively programs of the summer. Toastmaster last night was Bert Lawver, who gave each of his three speakers 15 minutes. Frank Mansur, his subject "Death Begins at Forty," offered statistics on automobile accidents and driving, asserting that almost double as many persons have been killed in automobile accidents in the past 15 years as have been killed in all American wars. Mansur said that two-thirds of the accidents are preventable and quoted authorities that lack of courtesy and high driving speeds are mainly responsible, although poor visibility was combined with speed as a factor.

Tells of Propaganda
Propaganda was analyzed into seven categories by Dwight Hamilton, who told of the newly formed Institute for Propaganda Analysis, Inc., and its campaign to make the public aware of propaganda. HAROLD LLOYD AT WEST COAST NOW

Harold Lloyd returns to the screen after an absence of more than a year and a half in a mirthquake of laughter entitled "Professor Beware," which opens at the West Coast theater today with a second attraction, "Til Give a Million," a gay romance starring Warner Baxter and Marjorie Weaver.

In his latest film venture, Lloyd plays the part of a down-and-out Egyptologist whose desire to help anyone in distress causes him to be bounced out of the halls of learning and sends him on a crazy dash across the continent with a girl at his heels. The girl is played by Phyllis Welch, Lloyd's charming new leading lady. Lionel Stander and Raymond Walburn contribute to the comedy. The climax comes when Lloyd leads a mob in a mass attack on a yacht to win back his bride and the approval of her father on the marriage.

Because he thinks that all girls want are orchids, yachts and mansions, a debonaire millionaire gives up his millions and goes looking for a girl who is only looking for love in "Til Give a Million." Baxter, Miss Weaver, Peter Lorre and Jean Herscholt are featured. A Porky cartoon and world news are added attractions.

Traffic Safety Aid Is Lauded

Thanks to Santa Ana police both from E. Raymond Cato, head of the state highway patrol, and Capt. Earl C. Griffen, in charge of the patrol's mobile enforcement squad, for assistance in the state-wide campaign for traffic safety, was expressed today in a letter on file with Police Chief Floyd W. Howard.

"I have just received a letter from Captain Griffen who operated in your vicinity with his squad recently, highly commending the manner in which you and your officers co-operated with his squad during this time," Cato said. "All we need to add my appreciation to that of Captain Griffen for the fine spirit your men who worked with us, revealed."

TUCKER OUTLINES PROBLEMS FOR CLUB

Members of the local 20-30 club were enlightened on various legal problems last night by Judge James B. Tucker when they met at their weekly meeting in Daniger's. Chief topics of Judge Tucker's informal speech were legal technicalities which confront the business man.

President Wylie Carlyle presided at the meeting and announced that John Knox would be the local club's delegate to the 20-30 national convention. The convention will be held in El Paso, Texas, August 16, 17, 18 and 19.

Divorce Anecdote
Many plans for the coming year are being contemplated by the service club in conformation with its past record in cooperation with other Santa Ana service groups, it was announced.

A highlight of Judge Tucker's talk regarding advice for those contemplating divorce was illustrated by the speaker when he related an anecdote in which a woman asked a lawyer if she had grounds for divorce. "The lawyer asked her," Judge Tucker said, "if the woman was married. Upon being told she was, the lawyer replied that that was sufficient grounds."

Weekly meetings of the 20-30 group are held at Daniger's. President Carlyle announced. The club is composed of young business and professional men of the com-

GASOLINE TAX REVENUE GAINS

State gasoline tax revenue for the first six months of 1938 showed an increase of $85,735.79 over the same period for last year, the state board of equalization reports, revenue for the first half of 1938 totaling $24,997,553.22, compared with $24,912,117.43 for the first six months of 1937.

Business Increases

Revenue for three of the months, the increase in the half year total is taken by William G. Bonelli, member of the board from this district, as an indication that business generally, at least in California, is on the up trend, gasoline sales being considered an excellent barometer of business activities.

Revenue for June showed an increase of 3.35 per cent over the total for June, 1937.

PATROL PETITIONS
HERE HELD PROPER

Charges of the state office of the Automobile Club of Southern California that irregularities in initiative petitions filed by the Association of State Highway Patrolmen in support of their proposed amendment to not apply in Orange county, according to Captain H. C. Meehan, of the California Highway Patrol.

The basis for issuance of three temporary restraining orders in San Francisco, Alameda and Los Angeles counties does not apply in Orange county, Meehan said. "While I cannot speak for petition signatures in other counties, I can say that the petitions signed in Orange county were 100 per cent correct," Meehan said. "We expected opposition of this sort and took special care to see that every petition from Orange county was properly filled out."

BY THE WATER BOY

This is not a west wind; it blows rather from the east. Right off the Santa Ana mountains.

Even as the wilds of Trabuco are termed the cradle of Orange county politics, having produced Jim Sleeper, the late J. C. Joplin, and the Adkinsons, father and son, so could El Modena, scarcely more urban, be called the cradle of Orange county hurlers.

From El Modena came Fred Warren Kelly, the first great hurdler to come out of Orange county. And right on his heels came Verle Murray, of the redoubtable Murray twins, just about as good as King Kelly, if not so well publicized.

Both went to Orange high school, and, in passing, it might be worth pausing here to wonder if Orange high isn't about the only school in Southern California, perhaps a lot wider area, that has turned out two Olympic champs. Kelly went to Stockholm in 1912 and took the high hurdles. Jim Workman pulled an oar when the California Bears won the rowing title at Amsterdam in 1928.

Getting back to El Modena hurlers, one might wonder how two such swell hurlers there were for that matter, because the other Murray twin, Earle, was no slouch. A rumor purports to explain it. The rumor is that the big, unwieldy old school benches in vogue in El Modena at that period were responsible for future hurdle championships.

The boys learned their hurdling over these benches and since there was no money to provide fancy barriers. The benches were big and very broad. Legs had to stretch a long way to get over them. Knocking over a hurdle was out of the question. It was the hurdler who got knocked over in case of collision. So clean hurdling form was developed with a vengeance. A heck of a bump was the penalty for anything else.

Kelly turned out to be a one-man track team at Orange high. Single-handed he whipped every high school in the county regularly. In his senior year, an Orange newspaper that was sports-minded, having already produced several members of Orange's great basketball team, took the charge of Kelly and sent him to the Pacific Coast intercollegiate track championships at Berkeley, at the paper's expense.

That trip put Kelly and Orange high on the map. The big fellow brought the title home, unassisted, with firsts in both hurdles and the shot put, and possibly a third added here and there like the broad jump.

The writer sat on a confab soon afterward between the late Warren Board, of U. S. C., Kelly, and the newspaper proprietors who had promoted the hurdler to public notice. That confab left Kelly in the U. S. C. fold, and led to his subsequent brilliant career in Trojan uniform, including Stockholm in his freshman year.

Kelly was as happy-go-lucky an athlete as you ever saw, always refusing to take his chores seriously. Sometimes in a track meet it was necessary to hunt him out when his event came round. Usually he was found on the next field, playing marbles with the grammar school kids. Even at Stockholm, racing for the title, Kelly almost missed his chance to run. He was busy staring up at one of the first airplanes he had ever seen. Perhaps this was prophetic; Kelly is a veteran air mail pilot now.

He was hardly out of high school when Verle Murray began burning up the track, equaling Kelly's old marks, so that in time they rigged up an exhibition match between them. It was on the high school track, and appropriately resulted in a dead heat.

Brother Earle Murray was a low hurdler and quarter-mile, if memory serves. The Murray twins teamed up with the Watson brothers, Trafford and Floyd, with Albers, Crawford, Doug Helwig and a few others, to make one of the best-rounded track teams the school ever had, carrying on where Kelly left off. It wasn't until that crowd finished school that Santa Ana and the other high schools began to win track meets.

Even with such stars as the great Buck Beebe, of Anaheim, lined up, the Orange crew was invincible. There

Yellow Ball Is Tried Out In Brooklyn Game

BY HENRY MCLEMORE
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(UP)—The yellow baseball was given a trial by a jury of its peers yesterday, the peers being the Dodgers of Brooklyn and the Cardinals of St. Louis.

The trial resulted in a hung jury. Some of the players condemned it, some voted for acquittal, and others said it looked no different to them than the standard white ball which has been in use since Abner Doubleday laid out the first diamond. In other words, the first major league test of the new yellow-hued ball did not result in any definite verdict as to the advisability of its general adoption.

The yellow ball was devised by Frederick Rahr, a great humanitarian who thought its high visibility would lessen the danger of players being hit by pitched balls. Players evidently have no high regard for their skills because not one of them mentioned the safety factor of the yellow ball when I discussed it with them in dressing room and dugout.

Babe Ruth, now a Brooklyn coach and also a smuggler of watermelons if one is to judge by his waistline, expressed this opinion from around his cherv of tobacco:

"I didn't even know it was yellow until somebody fouled one down there by me. The color don't make no difference. It's the guy who's chucking 'em at you that counts. When a good pitcher is throwing that ball they all look like aspirin tablets."

Burleigh Grimes, the man with the barbed wire beard, like the colored ball; said he could follow it from the bench, when during that split second when it streaked past the shirts of the hitters. Burleigh thought it would be a great help to the hitters when the pitcher was working against a white background of shirt-sleeve bleachers boys.

Ducky Medwick, the national's mightiest hitter, wasn't too enthusiastic, but admitted that his failure to get one scratch single might have something to do with the way he felt.

"It seemed sorta soft to me," Ducky said. "It didn't seem to have that hard clicking feeling that the white ball does. Yet it must be lively enough, because that homer of Mize's went as far as any he ever hit."

Freddie Fitzsimmons, the roly-poly pitcher who won his game 6 to 2 with the new ball, said something would have to be done about the yellow dye before the ball would be of any good.

"That dye started coming off all over my hands before the first inning was over," he said. "And as soon as the dye started coming off the ball got so slick I could hardly get hold of it."

Mr. Rahr, who was an interested witness to the game, said that Fitzsimmons had hit on the real trouble.

"We've had chemists working for months trying to find a dye that would withstand perspiration and still not be oily, but so far they haven't hit on it," Rahr said.

Leo Durocher, Dodger shortstop and the man who earned the nickname of the "All-American out" by his weak hitting, said he didn't care what kind of ball the league used.

"When you hit the way I do," Leo laughed, "they can throw a red ball, a green ball, or a fancy dress ball, even, and it doesn't make any difference. I miss any and all kinds."

From the press box the yellow ball was much easier to watch than a white one, especially on long flies. Even when it rose against the sun it could be followed every inch of the way.

My guess is that as soon as the dye is perfected the yellow ball will be adopted.

MONTANA TO MEET MORIOKA OF JAPAN

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(UP)—Small Montana, of the Philippines, former world's flyweight champion, meets Katsumi Morioka of Japan tonight in the first of a series of elimination matches sanctioned by the New York State Athletic commission to fill the vacancy left by Benny Lynch's recent forfeiture of the world title.

The bout is scheduled for 15 rounds to a capacity crowd was predicted. According to present plans of the commission, the winner will meet little Dado, Los Angeles contender.

Montana lost his claims to the title when defeated by Lynch last year. Lynch forfeited the title in June when he failed to scale the 112 pound flyweight limit for his scheduled title match against Jackie Jurich of San Jose, Calif.

MORAGA, Aug. 3.—(UP)—St. Mary's college announced today that "Sad Sam" Miller, halfback on the 1936 St. Mary's football team, had accepted a position as head coach at Doris Union High school in Siskiyou county.

M'MILLIN LEADS IN VOTES FOR COACHES

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—(UP)—A flood of votes from Indiana moved A. N. (Bo) McMillin, head football coach at Indiana, back into the lead today in the voting to select a staff of coaches to handle the college all-stars against Washington's Redskins in Soldier Field the night of Aug. 31.

McMillin, with 2,432,890 points, passed Elmer Layden of Notre Dame, who had a total of 2,338,805.

In second place was Harry Kipke, formerly of Michigan, with 2,319,702, then followed Raymond (Ducky) Pond of Yale with 2,178,519, A. J. Robertson of Bradley Tech, Peoria, Ill., 1,375,901, Lynn Waldorf, Northwestern, 1,375,568, Stubby Allison of California, 1,371,888, and Bob Zuppke, Illinois, with 888,764.

Voting ends Saturday night. The squad will report to the staff of five coaches on Aug. 12 at Northwestern University.

Tommy Gibbons, who stayed 15 rounds with Jack Dempsey at Shelby, Mont., won the nomination for sheriff in St. Paul by a margin of 6-1.

MANAGERS TO VOTE ON PLAN THIS EVENING

The two opening games in the Shaughnessy playoffs of the National Nightball league will be played at Wrigley field on Sunday night, August 14, if the managers of the eight teams in the league agree to such a plan at a meeting which has been called by President Jimmy Heffron for Anaheim tonight.

The proposition was submitted to President Heffron some time ago and a committee was appointed to make an investigation. The Wrigley field operators were contacted and agreed to rent the field for either August 14 or August 21. Tonight the managers of the National League will make a definite decision either to accept or reject the plan.

President Heffron said most of the managers to whom he has talked believe the plan a good one and are strong for it. The park can be obtained for a reasonable sum and it is believed that the double-header would attract a crowd sufficiently large to more than meet the expenses.

It is contended that the National Nightball league would obtain considerable favorable publicity by playing the opening games at Wrigley field. The National league is barred from the annual tournament in Los Angeles and Los Angeles fans seldom see nightball of the caliber played in the National.

If the teams in the league finish in their present order Huntington Beach would meet San Bernardino and Santa Ana would play Anaheim on the opening night.

The PAYOFF

BY HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, NEA Service

Lou Fonseca, the old American League batting champion, says that after all there are only a half dozen fundamentals to be mastered in baseball.

He says that these plus natural ability lead to stardom.

Fonseca, the junior loop's ambassador of good will, asserts that there is no potential shortage of major league players. The game is coming back to the colleges and high schools. Next spring University of Pittsburgh for the first time in 16 years will have baseball as a major sport. University of Tennessee is restoring it after an eight-year layoff. The day of a national high school tournament isn't far off.

No less than 60,000 youngsters were reached through Chicago schools last year. They had try-outs at 18 playgrounds. The best boys went to Comiskey Park or Wrigley Field each Saturday.

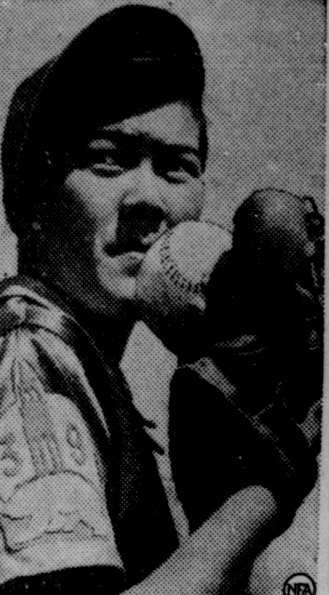

Professional baseball furnishes help like Manager Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs and Ray French, Charles Root, Billy Herman, Mike Kreevich, Ted Lyons, Jack Hayes, Luke Appling, and Monte Stratton.

Major league owners are enthusiastic about the school system that is being worked out in Boston, Philadelphia, Detroit, and San Francisco. They know early instruction makes for better players.

"We try to teach the boys the proper batting stride, so they'll be set for slow pitching as well as fast," explains an instructor.

Chicagoans declare that from last year's school they've got a half dozen homegrown boys who'll go into professional ball when they finish high school.

Yesterday's hero—Clay Bryant, who pitched a two-hit shutout over the New York Giants to move the Cubs to within a game and a half of the second place Giants.

L. A. Tennis Star In Third Round

CULVER, Ind., Aug. 3.—(UP)—Welby Van Horn, Los Angeles, tournament favorite, led seeded stars into the third round of the national junior tennis tournament today.

He defeated Deacon Parsons, Huntington, W. Va., 2-6, 6-3, 6-4, in a second round match yesterday.

The only seeded player to fall by the wayside was Larry Dee, San Francisco, No. 6, who was defeated by Don Canale, Memphis, Tenn., 6-1, 2-6, 6-3. Other second round results included:

Kenneth Bartlett, Los Angeles, defeated John Adams, Mayata, Minn., 6-3, 6-3; Jack Kramer, Montebello, Calif., defeated Don H. Crook, Vicksburg, Miss., 6-0, 6-3; Ted Olewine, Los Angeles, defeated Ray Dubois, Salt Lake City, 6-4, 6-3; Frank Meiner, Salt Lake City, defeated Frank McElwee, Fort Smith, Ark., 6-2, 6-3.

MELTON SUSPENDED

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(UP)—Cliff Melton, Giant southpaw hurler, was under indefinite suspension today. New York Manager Bill Terry refused to reveal the reason, describing it as a "club business."

I came as a complete surprise since Melton had won nine games this year. He won 20 last year in his first season in the majors.

Bill Knickerbocker considers Averill the finest hitter that he's seen since he crashed the American League, and that includes Joe DiMaggio.

Many players wish they had his timing.

BRYANT HOLDS GIANTS TO TWO HITS AND WINS

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—(UP)—Clay Bryant picked up a ball one day down in Birmingham, Ala., and a guy said to him: "You can really throw that apple."

Everybody kept saying the same thing to Bryant but he never could win ball games. Then he found his touch. Today he is one of the greatest right-handed pitchers in the national league.

With Gabby Hartnett coaxing him behind the plate, Bryant pitched the best game of his major league career yesterday—a two-hit shutout over the New York Giants. He not only pitched the Cubs to a 7-0 victory but he beat Kink Carl Hubbell. The triumph narrowed the margin between the second place Giants and the third place Cubs to a game and a half.

Hubbel himself got the first hit in the sixth off Bryant, who throws one of the best fast balls in baseball. Mel Ott doubled in the seventh for the second and last hit off the tall, curly haired Cub pitcher.

Pirates Lose

Pittsburgh lost its second straight game when Johnny Lanning of the Boston Bees held the National league leaders to four hits and enabled the Boston Bees to score a 3-1 victory. Rabbit Warstler's scratch single drove in the two runs necessary to win the game.

The Cincinnati Reds kept pace with the Cubs by defeating the Phillies, 3-2.

Johnny Vander Meer scored his 12th triumph although relieved by Paul Derringer in the ninth inning. Vander Meer gave up eight hits during his stay on the mound.

Using a yellow baseball stitched with red, the Brooklyn Dodgers defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-2, in the first game of a double-header. In the second game using a regulation baseball the Dodgers again won, 9-3. The twin triumph enabled the Dodgers to climb into fifth place, one percentage point ahead of the Bees. Dolf Camilli hit two homers for the Dodgers in the nightcap.

The New York Yankees had their American league lead cut to a game and a half when they lost to the Detroit Tigers, 4-3. The Tigers got all their runs off Lefty Gomez, including Charley Gehringer's home run. Rookie George Gill held the Yankees to eight hits, winning Detroit's ninth game in 10 starts.

Cleveland picked up a whole game on the Yanks by trimming the Boston Red Sox, 7-4. A homer by Ken Keltner, and doubles by Bruce Campbell, one of the greatest money players on the Indians and Bud News Hales and Jeff Heath were the deciding punches.

Washington beat the St. Louis Browns, 5-3, and the Chicago White Sox won from the Philadelphia Athletics, 8-4, in the other two American league games. Gabby Street, Browns manager, protested Washington's victory because of a collision between Umpire Harry Geisel and Billy Sullivan, racing for home on a close play.

Mrs. C. V. Doty won first honors in the best nine holes golf match for women at the Santa Ana Country club yesterday. Mrs. Doty captured first place in Class A with a 40-6-34.

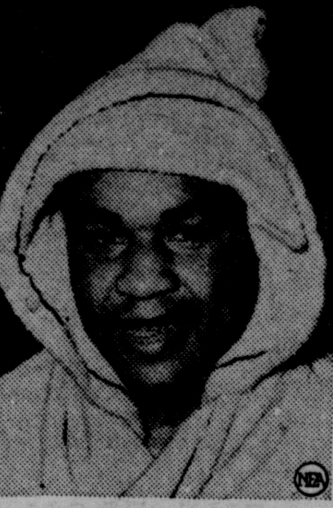

In Class B, Mrs. E. R. Kerley took first with a 41-9-32; Mrs. M. N. Thompson was second with a 50-15-35 and Mrs. R. G. Cartwright, 46-11-35.

CHRISTY WRESTLES MAGILL THURSDAY

Overconfidence may be the downfall of Ted Christy Thursday night when he meets Cecil Magill in the main event on the Orange County Athletic club wrestling card.

Christy, the "Sunland Terror," who won a more or less questionable victory last week over Tony Morelli, refuses to take Magill seriously or to bother with training. "Why should I put in any extra work?" he is said to have asked. "Magill is just another wrestler for me to knock over."

Magill, on the other hand, is following a rigorous training grind preparatory to the match. He is planning to use the drop kick in his campaign against the "Sunland Terror" because that is the one method of attack that Christy cannot stand up under. "Christy can't take 'em," Magill said, "and I will give him so many drop kicks that he will think it is raining feet."

La Moody Nearly Goes To France

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(UP)—Mrs. Helen Willis Moody almost sailed on the French liner Normandie today without wanting to.

The tennis champion rushed across the vessel a few minutes before sailing time to say goodbye to some friends.

When Mrs. Moody did not return until after the "all ashore that's going ashore" warning, a pier guard went after her. He reappeared a few minutes later with the athlete in tow.

She said she had experienced difficulty in finding her friends and "very nearly got carried out to sea."

PLACENTIA BOARD TO CALL ELECTION SOON

SET DATE AT NEXT MEETING

PLACENTIA, Aug. 3.—An election to vote bonds for construction of a city hall building, establishment of a city park and purchase or establishment of a city water system will be held early in September.

Councilmen of Placentia last night passed a resolution of intention and on August 16 will call the election for voting $72,000 in bonds, 55 per cent of the cost of the development, Austin and Wildman, Santa Ana architects, last night presented sketches of the new buildings.

The city hall project bonds are for $10,000; the water system, $60,000, and the park project, $2,000.

The water proposition depends upon the attitude of the American States Water company, now serving Placentia, it was announced. The city will either purchase that system or establish its own plant. The balance of the money is to be acquired from the government under a WPA project.

CONSIDER PROPOSAL TO MOVE HOTEL DE POOCH OF LAGUNA

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 3.—That the stray animals of Laguna Beach have plenty of friends left was clearly demonstrated at this week's meeting of the Humane society, which considered the current proposal to remove "Hotel de Pooch," the palatial dog pound, to the city dump, some two miles up Laguna canyon.

At the outset, it was learned from Councilman Tom Cummings that the city's property holdings at the dump-site are not large enough to house the impounded animals, whose howlings have disturbed the residents in the vicinity of the present animal shelter.

On motion of Mrs. Helen Carter Tiffany, secretary and former president of the society, the city and county officials, now jointly in charge of the pound, will be asked to turn the management of the shelter over to the humane society, of which Leslie Kimmel is president. Mrs. Tiffany also paid high tribute to the manner in which Fred Walters, poundmaster, has taken care of his charges during the life of "Hotel de Pooch."

Following talks, pro and con, by Owen Williams, Mrs. Homer Foster, Police Chief Gene Woods, Dr. J. H. Bower, county livestock inspector, and Mesdames Grace Martin, Ione Weber, Anna H. Lane, Maurice McMillan, William S. Thompson, Katherine H. Sullivan, and the Misses Ethelwyn Grier, Ann Smeele, Maude Peek and Councilman Randolph Bainbridge, the matter was left for further consideration by the society and the city council. Meanwhile, "Hotel de Pooch" stays as is, where it is, until suitable quarters can be found.

LIONS TOLD OF BUILDING WORK NEW AIRPLANE AT HIGH MARK

COSTA MESA, Aug. 3.—Motion pictures and a lecture on the new DC-4, large commercial airplane, were presented by Elmer Wheaton of the Douglas Aircraft company at the meeting yesterday of the Costa Mesa-Newport Harbor Lions club at the Bay Shore cafe.

The product of three years' research, a feature of the plane is the development of the tri-cycle landing gear. The apparatus includes a landing wheel in the nose, permitting the plane to land on an even keel.

One of the planes shown in the pictures was in one of its trial performances over Newport Beach yesterday morning. Judge Donald J. Dodge was program chairman. Guests included Mrs. Donald J. Dodge, Mrs. Leroy P. Anderson and Mrs. Elmer Wheaton.

Sunset Beach To Ask County Funds

SUNSET BEACH, Aug. 3.—County funds for the improvement and upkeep of the beach here will be sought by citizens following a meeting of the chamber of commerce, when various problems were considered.

Efforts are to be made to have a deputy sheriff stationed here at all times. Discussion was held on a change in the water system. A communication was sent to Major Theodore Wyman in Los Angeles registering an objection to a proposed wooden jetty near the entrance of Anaheim bay. It is feared that such a jetty would cause a filling of the entrance to the bay and seriously interfere with navigation of boats that pass in and out of the tidal channels in the Sunset Beach area.

LEGION NIGHT OBSERVED AT LAGUNA'S FESTIVAL OF ARTS

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 3.—High spot in attendance at the current Festival of Arts was reached last night, when American Legion night was observed. The Santa Ana Drum and Bugle corps of post 131 added a colorful interlude in its striking uniforms and military precision of drill and music.

The Legion auxiliary quartet, Sara Kyle, Josephine Lykke, Zola Maag and Laverne Van Wyk, gave a program of songs, including a Hawaiian melody, "Let All My Life Be Music," "There's Something About a Soldier" and other popular songs, climaxed by a medley of war songs that received warm appreciation from the hundreds of Legionnaires and veterans present.

The regular program of "Pageant of the Masters" was given as the closing feature of the evening, with "The Last Supper" remaining, as heretofore, the supreme offering, closing the presentation.

Cleo Allen Hibbs' theme song, "Laguna," continues to grow in popularity, being sung and played at each afternoon and evening showing. The festival closes on Saturday night; meanwhile interest and attendance continue unabated, an estimated seven thousand paid admissions having been registered to date.

AUTOMOTIVE NEWS

JERRY HALL IS DISTRIBUTOR OF FISK TIRES

Announcement was made today of the appointment of Jerry Hall, prominent Santa Ana tire dealer, as distributor of Fisk Tires in Santa Ana and surrounding territory by H. F. Fisk, district representative for the company.

"We have accepted the appointment as Fisk distributors as a forward step in satisfying the needs and desires of every customer," Hall said today. "The new streamlined 'cropper' Safti-Fite tire made by Fisk is an outstanding achievement in tire construction and we are happy to be able to offer this tire to the public."

Twenty Years' Experience

Twenty years of tire experience are behind the judgment of Hall on the new Fisk tire. He first started in the business in 1918 in St. Joseph, Mo., where, as co-partner in the firm of Foster and Hall Tire Company, he operated a combined service station and radio station that grossed annually $250,000.

In June of 1932 Hall moved into his present location at 118 North Main street where he has continued to operate successfully ever since with a constantly increasing patronage. He is assisted at the present location by five highly trained mechanical specialists.

"Safest Tire"

"We are proud to add the Fisk tire to our line," Hall said. "We will continue to supply our customers with other lines of tires, including United States tires, as we have done in the past."

"We have a 24 hour service maintained at our station and can cater to every need of the motorist with a complete line of General Petroleum products, accessories, and batteries. Our re-capping and re-treading service is proving to be a very popular feature," Hall said.

Fifty Cushions

Nationally advertised as "America's Safest Tire," the new Fisk "cropper" tire is a complete innovation in tire construction, Hall stated.

"In the new Safti-Fite tire there are 50 flexible rubber cushions in contact with the road at all times. The rubber cushions are in concentric circles around the tire in a 'rib' tread. Each rubber

Jerry Hall Made New Fisk Tire Distributor

Hall today announced his acceptance of the appointment as distributor for Fisk Tires in Santa Ana and surrounding territory. Hall will continue to handle other makes of tires, including United States tires, and has announced a huge eight-day sale starting Friday to introduce the new line.

AUTO TOURING SPENDING HITS $4,500,000,000

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 3.—(Exclusive)—Motor-vacationing expenditures reached the record-shattering total of $4,500,000,000 during 1937, according to a final report on last year's touring volume made public by the American Automobile Association. This was $250,000,000 higher than the previous record total, established in 1936.

The national motoring body's report predicted that although there would be a greater number of tourists on the highways this year, the total of their expenditures would be down slightly from last year, primarily because business conditions have caused motorists generally to watch their pennies more closely and to seek less expensive accommodations.

All Indexes Up

"Every travel indicator pointed upward in 1937," the A.A.A. said. "Motor clubs throughout the country showed increases in routings ranging up to 37 per cent; gasoline consumption gained 7.5 per cent; travel to national parks and national forests showed strong gains; nearly every state travel promotion body reported an increased number of visitors; and resort hotels and bridge and ferry companies found their 1937 business at boom proportions."

Records Smashed

"So far this year, the trend of travel continues upward slightly—motor clubs have an even stronger demand for routings than last year," the A.A.A. said. "The cushion is separated by a thin strip of very soft rubber. As the brakes of the car are applied, the soft rubber is forced out beyond the hard rubber cushion and it wet weather acts as a dryer for pavement so the tire proper can safely grip the road."

"To introduce this new tire to the public we are staging an eight-day sale starting on Friday and continuing through the next Saturday during which we are going to make special allowances on used tires as well as other bargains in other departments of the station. Other attractions to the motoring public will also be offered during the sale," Hall said.

HUGE TOLL IS TAKEN BY FIRE

Protection of scenic and recreational assets in the forested areas of the state by carefulness in use of campfires, burning matches and tobacco was urged upon motorists in a statement today from the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Pointing to the heavy toll resulting from the recent widespread outbreak of lightning-caused forest fires, the motorists' organization emphasized that danger of further fires will continue through the balance of summer and early fall. Long after the season when lightning is a cause of fires the forests will continue to be exposed to the threat of man-caused fires, the club warned.

HUGE TOLL IS TAKEN BY FIRE

Improved weather and dry winds leave a tinder-like condition in many forest sections, needing only one careless act with fire to start disastrous conflagrations," the statement continued.

"Thousands each year enjoy the recreation these forests offer. The United States forest service is doing much to provide improved facilities for motorists and campers, and to make the forests more accessible. Those who benefit should be alert to do their part in protecting these regions against fire."

"State law provides that outside of a business or residence district no person shall wilfully or negligently throw from any vehicle up, or on a highway any lighted cigarette, cigar, ashes, or any other flaming or glowing substance."

"In national forests during the summer no smoking is permitted except in camps, at places of habitation, or in special areas along roads and trails set aside for the purpose and posted to that effect."

Supplementing the present custom of awarding five-year and ten-year service pins to employees, Seaside Oil company this week at a surprise banquet presented 15-year service pins to eight employees, according to F. E. McClaren, general sales manager. Among those receiving this pin was M. W. O'Brien, Seaside president.

Eight Seaside Oil Workers Honored

"At present there are 73 Seaside employees wearing the five-year service pin," McClaren said. "Thirty-five employees wear the 10-year service pin. In other words, 115 Seaside employees have been with the company five years or longer, a record of which Seaside is quite naturally very proud."

The practice of awarding 15-year service pins will be continued as a regular Seaside tradition, it was stated.

automobile, as the case may be, and constantly replenishes the sale used air which is expelled. However, the Nash air conditioning unit even surpasses the ventilation system of the tunnel in that it purifies and comfortably warms the air before releasing it within the car interior."

Motorists need no longer worry about fogged windshields and stuffy interiors when driving a new Nash. All carbon-monoxide fumes, smoke and stale air are constantly replaced by fresh warmed air taken in through the cowl ventilator.

CLIPPER SHIPS TO BE SHOWN

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 3.—One of the most spectacular exhibits in history, never before shown at any World's Fair, was seen for the 1938 Golden Gate International Exposition when detailed plans were disclosed to make Treasure Island the future Pacific Coast base of the Pan American Airways System.

Visitors to the Exposition will see famous Clippers arriving and taking off for Honolulu, Hong Kong and other trans-Pacific points, providing as an exhibit a "complete air line under glass."

Huge Display Space

Under its agreement with the Exposition, Pan American has taken more than 65,000 square feet of floor space in one of the two permanent hangars at the World's Fair site.

Outdoor space is assigned for beaching ramp and marine railway to haul the great Clippers into the hangar for servicing, and for loading docks, refueling dock and tankage, and necessary mooring buoys, roads, fences and walkways. Construction of added facilities will begin immediately, and operation of the Clippers from Treasure Island will start between Nov. 1 and 15 of this year.

Radio Communication

To enable the public to become acquainted with every phase of terminal maintenance, an observation gallery will be built in the hangar, and from the floor, through a glass partition, spectators may watch such behind-the-scenes activities as engine-dismantling, propeller etching and in-

BUSES NEED NOT STOP AT RAIL CROSSINGS IF OFFICER THERE

Passenger buses, generally speaking, must stop at railroad crossings but that is not always the case, Capt. H. C. Meehan, Orange county head of the California Highway Patrol, revealed today.

"No stop is required where there are no trains? Not at all; pedestrians should receive proper consideration. What is the speed limit over a bridge? Over the Bay and Golden Gate Bridges the speed is 45 miles per hour. Other bridges throughout the state are the same unless the department of public works had placed a speed limit thereon based upon the safety of the structure."

Children Break Law

In a series of answers to questions submitted by interested property owners, Captain Meehan also said: "Children who playfully extend their arms from an automobile are violating the law. The acts are misleading and dangerous. The problem is a difficult one and rests principally with the driver of the car to correct."

Other questions and the answers as presented by Captain Meehan follow:

Speed On Bridges

Have noticed so many automobiles turn at intersections lately narrowly missing pedestrians that I was wondering if the law was repealed concerning rights of pedestrians adjusting.

Ship-to-shore radio communication will also be shown and on the glass wall will be an animated flight-progress map where spectators may follow the flight of all Clippers in the Pacific Division.

SEEKS TO THWART DELAY OF DAM

Jimmie Fidler in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, August 3.—Mutterings: If Robert Taylor and Barbara Stanwyck are going to marry, why the devil don't they hurry up and do it—preferably on a Tuesday or a Friday? Secret Ambition:
To play Romeo to Hedy Lamarr's Juliet—without a balcony. Wondering muse: do you suppose a full day over an old-fashioned wash tub would convince these complaining stars that their lives could be harder?

Hit and run notion: to ask Joan Crawford if she feels like singing now that that she has lost her Tone. Growl: when will these proud producers learn that a picture is not necessarily a five-bell offering because it cost a couple of millions? What an elegant time Mr. Stokowski is going to have trying to dodge the interviewers
when he comes back to Hollywood!
Silly notion: Grace Moore giving a charity concert. Wonder if "Gone With the Wind" will be as bore-some as all this pother about casting it is now, becoming?

Nominated for the cutting room floor: Hollywood's newly-rich who on telling everyone exactly how much their latest purchase cost.
Odd that Director John Ford, who is a martinet on the set, should take such pride in being a socialist.
Reportorial ambition: to interview
King Louis XVI about M-G-M's interpretation of the royal character. What a pity some practical joker doesn't give those Ritz gan-nies a lethal dose of their own medicine!

Dropped in on the "Wooden Anchors" set today and found the troupe idling while the electricians and grips shifted equipment for a new set-up—a job that required the better part of an hour. Richard Green, Maxie Rosenbloom and Preston Foster were huddled in a far corner of the stage, swapping stories. Elisha Cook Jr., was chin-ning himself on an overhead pipe.
Warren Hymer and Douglas Fowley were tumbling about in a friendly wrestling match. Ward Bond and Jack Pennick were betting with Slim Summerville on his accuracy as a tobacco-juice-spitter. Bob Lowery and Charles Tannen were lagging nickles to a chalk line. And Nancy Kelly, the leading lady, was enshrined in her dressing room, reading a novel. Sometimes, leaving a set like that, I'm going to hear an actor making his perennial complaint about the hardships of his existence—and find myself up on a murder charge.

PRADO FORFEIT CAUSES SNARL

Orange county officials conferred today with U. S. army engineers in Los Angeles, seeking to ward off threat of a year's delay in construction of Prado dam.
Delay in the county's action on contracts to relocate the Santa Fe railroad and Santa Ana canyon highway has developed hesitancy on the part of army engineers to proceed with the contract for the big dam, because of fear that the relocation job may interfere with their own program, the county supervisors learned yesterday through Flood Engineer M. N. Thompson.

High Forfeit Looms
The Santa Fe tracks now run directly across the dam site and, under the county's program, might not be removed in time to avoid delaying work on the dam beyond the "dead lines" set forth in the proposed contract.

Since every day's delay beyond such completion dates would cost the contractor $1000 per day as a forfeit to the federal government, army engineers fear they will not be able to interest contractors in the job until the relocation program is out of the way.

Will Seek Reduction
Chairman Willard Smith, of the supervisors, and Engineer Thompson hurried to Los Angeles today to confer with Major Theodore Wyman Jr., Los Angeles division chief of army engineers, who has charge of the Prado program. An effort would be made, it was said, to procure a reduction in the forfeit from $1000 to $500 per day, and to otherwise iron out the difficulties in the path of immediate action on the Prado dam contract.

The army engineers planned to advertise for bids on the contract
August 10, to open the bids on September 20, and to award the contract October 1.

Difficulties Cited
Under the contract, the contractor would be required to have a temporary channel completed to the 500-ft level by November 15.
However, the county's $241,000 relocation contract with Person and Hollingsworth and W. C. Cole does not require that relocation of the Santa Fe railroad be completed before next January 8. This prospect of interference with the dam contract is said to have influenced the army engineers.

Delay in awarding the relocation contract here was due in part to right-of-way difficulties and partially to state officials, who held the contract in Sacramento from July 5 until last week before returning it here with their approval.

Chief alarm here at the prospect of delay to the Prado dam program centered in the fact that the county would face flood danger from Santa Ana river two years instead of only next winter. If the dam is started this fall it will have progressed to the point where flood danger would be eliminated by the winter of 1939, officials say.

S. A. Indian Protests Looting Of Graveyards

A campaign to halt the looting of Indian graveyards by private collectors for commercial purposes has been undertaken locally by J. B. Romero, of 1224 West Second street, Santa Ana, it was learned today.

Romero, a full-blooded Indian,
native of the Santa Ynez country,
is seeking the aid of museums, anthropological societies and other agencies in an effort to stop wholesale depredations upon the burial places of his people.

Destroys Scientific Value
Thousands of relics being taken, chiefly by hordes of private collectors, he states, is destroying much of scientific value, in addition to other objectionable features of the practice.

Romero states that he already has received much support in his move, including letters from several museums. He expects to take the matter up with Indian associations and seek legislation to curb the intruders, he says.

New Presidential Stamp On Sale of stamps issued by the postal department went on sale today at the post office, Postmaster Frank R. Harwood announced.

The new stamp is a five-cent denomination, is light blue in color, and bears the likeness of James Monroe.

Science Curbs Drunk Driving

By taking a sample of a suspect's breath in a small rubber balloon, forcing it through a solution of sulphuric acid and potassium permanganate bleached in exact ratio to the amount of alcohol in the breath, amount of intoxication of a person can be easily determined. This is the theory of Judge Harry H. Porter, Evanston, Ill., on the Pacific Coast in connection with a drive against intoxicated drivers. Judge Porter and Mrs. Porter demonstrated his device at Los Angeles.

Pastor Who Wed Duke And Wally Visits Laguna

Among recent visitors to Laguna

Rev. Mr. Jardine made the trip to France, where, at Chateau de Cande, he conducted the ceremony which marked the culmination of romance between king and com-

retired from his Darlington church, is touring the United States. During his stay in Laguna Beach, he was houseguest of Mr. and Mrs.

PLAN 4-H CLUB PARLEY SEPT. 1

The chief interest of Orange county 4-H club members today is the approaching state club convention, leaders announced. Delegates are selected from each club on the basis of their accomplishments in club work during the past year.

The date for this annual convention of 4-H clubs in California has been set for the University Farm at Davis, Sept. 1 to 3, inclusive.
This is the 23rd annual 4-H club convention in California and one which will interest a large number of youngsters. On Friday, Sept. 2, all delegates will leave the Davis campus right after lunch on a special train for Sacramento.

Plan Amateur Hour
The evening meal will be a joint farm bureau 4-H Club dinner in the new assembly building on the fairgrounds in Sacramento. This year on Thursday evening, Sept. 1, an amateur hour will again be held,
and delegates already are planning contributions. Delegates will wear official 4-H club uniforms to the state fair, so visitors at the fair will have an opportunity of seeing this selected group of boys and girls, the young people who will likely become farm leaders a few years hence.

About 30 club members from Orange county are expected to attend, according to Ross E. Crane, assistant farm adviser.

Herbert Hoover Gives Midway City Church $50

A check for $50.00 from ex-President Herbert Hoover is among the more recent donations received toward the new Community Friends church of Midway City. The generous gift was sent by Mr. Hoover through his cousin, Mrs. Clifford Jones, wife of the local church pastor, who in corresponding with her illustrious cousin had told of the plans to start the erection of a home for their local church which heretofore has been held in the Woman's clubhouse.

At a committee meeting held this week in the home of Mr. and Mrs.
Bert Heath, final plans for having the accepted plans of the church building blue-printed, were adopted.

Miss Patricia Emison Receives at Attractive Luncheon

Summertime pleasures shared by members of the younger set have been highlighted by a number of informal parties, the latest of which was given yesterday afternoon when Miss Patricia Emison entertained in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Emison, 2235 North Park boulevard.

Assisting in extending hospitality of the charming home were the hostess' mother and sister, Mrs. Emison and Miss Beth Emison, and Miss Charlotte Mock. Petunias in white swan containers were centerpieces for the small tables which were included in the setting for early afternoon luncheon. The large dining table too, was brightened with petunias blossoms nodding from a long shallow bowl.

Yesterday afternoon seemed an ideal time for a swim at Corona del Mar, so the young people left for the favorite beach spot soon after luncheon.

Out-of-town guests at the affair included Miss Betty La Blant of Minneapolis, Minn., who is spending the summer with Miss Nancy Cappelen, and Miss Barbara May of Alexandria, Ind. Miss May, who has been visiting with Miss Marilyn Dick, expects to leave Saturday for Glendale, and will depart for her Indiana home later in the summer.

Others on Miss Emison's guest list were the Misses Nancy Cappelen, Patsy Miller, Alice Claire McFarland, Peggy Holloway, Caroline Wells, Jane Hollis, Anita Potter, Grace Cook, Gloria Clem, Harriet Spicer, Anne Bell, Jean Dowd, Doris Cox, Bettie Timmons, Marilyn Dick, Bettie Lacy, Phyllis Bemis, Lillian Breaux, Irma Jean May, Marjorie Mize, Ruth Ann Segerstrom, Dorothy Parker, Jeanette Brown, Marjorie Wall.

Pittsburgh Residents
Conclude Visit Soon

Four visitors from Pittsburgh, Penna., the Misses Mabel Dickey, Ida Dickey, Ada Park and Mary Jamieson, plan to leave tomorrow for the homeward trip by way of the northern route after a vacation visit with Santa Anans.

They have been dividing their stay between the home of Mrs. Anna M. Scott and her daughter, Miss Lavinia Scott, 320 South Birch street and that of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Guthrie, 1920 Bush street.

The quartet from Pittsburgh spent today in San Marino visiting the Huntington Library as guests of Miss Scott. Monday and Tuesday all spent in San Diego while various other Southland points have been included on their itinerary during the past several days.

Sunday noon, Miss Mabel Dickey was hostess at dinner at Danigers, inviting her three traveling companions, Mr. and Mrs. Guthrie and their sons, Dick and Franklin, and Mrs. Scott and Miss Scott to be her guests.

That afternoon, the eastern residents accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Guthrie to Long Beach where they were entertained in the home of Mrs. Guthrie's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Madill. They returned to the Guthrie home for a Sunday evening supper party.

The Misses Dickey, Ida Dickey, Park and Jamieson plan to stop at San Francisco and the Yosemite en route home. They traveled west by way of Yellowstone, Zion National Parks and the Grand Canyon. All are teachers in Pittsburgh schools. Miss Mabel Dickey is a cousin of Mrs. Scott and Miss Scott.

Post-nuptial Event
Given by Pair of Hostesses

Bearing gifts for a June bride, guests arrived last night at the home of Miss Jean McKamy, 2510 North Park boulevard, for a post-nuptial affair which Miss McKamy and Miss Erma Swartz gave in compliment to Mrs. Le Roy Smith, the former Miss Donna Baker.

Games soon were in progress, with prizes going to the honor guest and Miss Ethel Manning. Presentation of miscellaneous shower gifts to Mrs. Smith came as a highlight of the evening.

Yellow and green was the motif observed in a dessert course of ice cream and cake, served with coffee at linen-spread tables.

In the group with the two hostesses and the guest of honor were the Misses Marian Bradley, Helen Waer, Ethel Manning, Ann Pellegrin, Fay Morris, Connie Hamilton, Marjorie Wonder, Dorothea Dixon, Mrs. John Birt and Mrs. Raymond Miller.

The Hertzbergs Return
From Trip North

Traveling more than 4000 miles in two weeks' time, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hertzberg and son, Frank Hertzberg, 507 East Walnut street, enjoyed a vacation trip which although just concluded, is recorded in part by the many interesting pictures which the group snapped on a trip to British Columbia as well as on the homeward journey.

Eighty-five pictures tell the story of the scenic spots visited by the trio, who went along the Redwood Highway to Eureka, Crescent City and Eugene, Ore. In Eugene they were joined by a former Santa Anan, Miss Virginia Hill, daughter of the Claude Hill of the northern city, for a trip to Vancouver and Columbia, B. C.

After two days in the wheat country of the north, and short stays in various interesting places, they continued along the Hood river. They enjoyed hiking to within 3000 feet of Mt. Hood.

Accompanied by Miss Hill on the return to Eugene, the Santa Anans continued the leisurely trip homeward, going over Mackenzie Pass, and the lava fields, and then to Bend, Ore., to visit the lava caves. Crater lake with its blue-violet waters; Klamath Falls; Re-

Contract Group Meets
With Mrs. Horton
For Friendly Evening

Zinnias blazed like the first fires of autumn, in the George Horton home, 1333 South Flower street, where Mrs. Horton last night received her evening bridge club for one of the semi-monthly sessions.

The flowers were especially effective on small tables, spread with linen for serving a dessert course in advance of contract play. Mrs. Edward Sugden and Mrs. Francis Edmonds were high score makers for the succeeding interval of contract play.

Despite the fact of the meeting falling in the very heart of vacation season, all members were present to enjoy Mrs. Horton's hospitality, the group including Mrs. Bolton Jones and Mrs. Harold Vieira of Fullerton, Mrs. Howard Anderson of Huntington Beach, Mrs. Sugden, Mrs. Edmonds, Mrs. Ralph Adams and Mrs. Charles Kendall, Jr.

Party Guests Present
Many Pretty Linens
To Bride-elect

Stitching busily away on the gay designs of tea towels provided by their hostess, guests last night of Mrs. Ira Kroese, 2104 Greenleaf street, presented the completed towels to the party honoree, Miss Frances Was, who in September will wed Jack Lindsey of Tustin.

Mrs. Kroese used the bright hues of petunias in her flower arrangement, and at the late evening refreshment hour, matched them with quaintly formal nosegays centering each of the prettily arranged tables. Mrs. George Munro assisted throughout the evening.

In the interval between completion of the towels and serving refreshments, Mrs. Kroese gave her honor guest a place in the center of the circle of friends and presented her with the collection of gift packages brought by them.

Native Daughters Thimble club members were notified today that a meeting planned for Friday has been postponed until September 2. Hostess at that time will be Mrs. Hart Pennington, entertaining in her home, 510 East Myrtle street.

Mott's Homer Ends Spree

3 to 1 at the Orange City park last night. The third place San Bernardino Ponies climbed within one game of Anaheim by besting Brea 7 to 4 with an eight inning rally which saw them come from behind a 4 to 3 count to score four runs on four successive singles and an error.

Huntington Beach's league leaders added to their percentage with hard fought 4-2 victory over the Irvine Beantickers at Irvine. The Oilers were trailing 2-1 going into the eighth inning when Orr Schuchardt hit for the circuit with Osborne and Kelley aboard.

Over at Orange where the Cubs felled the Valencia, Jack Dugan had his fifth straight shutout in grasp going into the ninth, when Arnold Struck dropped Fred Gunther's high fly to center. The blow went for three bases and Gunther scored the lone Anaheim run, when Joe Wallin hit into a fielder's choice with one away. The Cubs got all their runs in the fourth frame, Hahn walked, Ballard laid down a bunt. Both runners advanced on a passed ball. Walt Leichter sacrificed the pitcher to first and Manuel Salcido hit a sharp grounder to center. The runners scored when Wallin dropped the ball on the play for Hahn at home.

Lions Lose Out
Brea's Lions lost a heartbreaker to San Bernardino when the Ponies slashed out with a four run attack in the eighth. "Lefty" Watson's home run in the third inning with two aboard accounted for the other three Ponies runs. Johnson's home run with two on in the fifth featured the Brea attack.

was, for example, the time in 1914 when Beebe ran the mile in 4:31 and the half in 1:58, but Orange was up there on top with 50 points.

Cookman was a pole vaulter. Helwig a high jumper. The Watsons and Murphys sprinted, hurdled and broad jumped. The Watson brothers and the Murray twins ran the relay like four jackrabbits. Earle Murray ran the quarter. Trafford Watson was a shot putter. The other teams had to get what points they could in the longer distances.

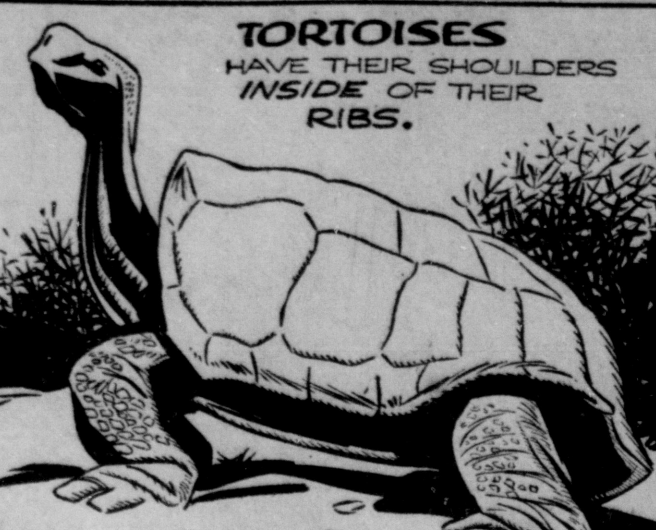

The same outfit of athletes ran off with the Southern Cal. baseball title in 1914, with Dick Lush, star southpaw, in the box. Orange high school girls, at about the same time, took the girls' basketball title away from Long Beach, who had held it perennially. The boys also grabbed the basketball title.

Orange high had no paid coach at that period, to make it all the more startling. Bill Hart, Orange publisher who helped promote the boys' championship, coached the girls' basketball team until the girls' basketball team was as well as the boys. He was a volunteer, not connected with the school.

It would have been interesting to see what that bunch of all-around athletes could have done at football. But football was then a hit-and-miss affair in Orange, not being played on an organized basis until years later.

A POINT ON THE EQUATOR OF THE PLANET JUPITER REVOLVES AS FAR IN ONE HOUR AS A POINT ON THE EARTH'S EQUATOR REVOLVES ABOUT THE AXIS IN 24 HOURS.

ANSWER: Both boys are right. A bird is also an animal.

TORTOISES once had only an armor-plated skin, but this heavy armor gradually settled down to the ribs and spine, and later became welded to them.

TRIBUTE

Hilda is an attractive child, friendly, and usually well behaved. "I'm four and a little over, so I'm a big girl," she says. "I can do lots of things to help you, mother. What will you give me if I help you with the baby?"

"Something something nice." "But what is it you want, Hilda? You have all the toys you need, all the food you can eat, all the clothes you can wear. Why should you want anything else? Couldn't you help without asking for pay? Nobody asks you for pay when they help you."

"I'm little, that's why. Give me something, mother, and I'll help you." Mother says "No. There is really nothing I can give you except my thanks and if that is not enough, then don't help."

"Then I won't," says Hilda, and goes off.

When mother or father or auntie comes into the house after an absence, Hilda meets them with shouts of joy and before they can get settled in a chair, demands, "What did you bring me? Did you bring me a pretty?"

It is an unpleasant habit. All little children, at some time in their growth, are acquisitive. They want to gather things and more things. They collect bits of paper, little stones, beads, toys and more toys. The Crow Age, some psychologists call this. Usually we let this stage go to completion and it passes without leaving any unpleasant traces. Hilda seems to be holding it too long.

To such as Hilda say "No," very calmly, and appear to ignore the idea. Don't talk about it. If you can possibly help it, just say "No, I didn't bring you a thing." "I didn't bring you a thing," "I didn't bring you a thing," "I didn't bring you a thing."

Don't bring her anything when coming home after a visit. Do nothing that will strengthen her notion of getting and keeping things. If she is not encouraged in any way she is very likely to forget the whole business.

As to older children being paid for work they do about the house, the best plan, in my experience, is to assign household chores to every child. Share the work among them so they learn to understand that home is a cooperative business carried on by the whole family. In this way no child can be overworked or imposed upon.

I think it is fair, provided the atmosphere of the home is set that way, to pay older children for work they do when their work saves the cost of outdoor labor. This happens rarely. Most of the work done for the home by the children is service to themselves and to each other and for that there can be no money payment. Love and the service of love is beyond price.

And that reminds me that Wendy Barrie, being "between pictures," announced about two weeks ago that she intended to take a "complete rest." Unfortunately—for me she chose a time when I wanted to check a story with her. I telephoned "Miss Barrie is playing tennis—she won't be home until late," her maid informed me. The next day, when I called, Miss Barrie was riding. The next day—and the next—she was at the beach, swimming. In desperation, I tried to call her at night, only to be told that she had gone dancing. The story is still un-checked—and for all I know, Wendy is still enjoying a "complete rest."

Select Walther League Delegates

ORANGE, Aug. 3.—Delegates to the Walther league convention in Los Angeles in September were elected last night when the Junior Walther league of St. John's Lutheran church met at Walker Memorial hall. The group's president, Irene Kohls, was elected as well as Lucille Drinkern and Vernon Bades.

"Sanctification," the topic for the evening's discussion, was led by the Rev. A. G. Webbeking, pastor of Immanuel Lutheran church. Harry Strick, advisor to the group, then closed the meeting, after which games were played in the gymnasium of the hall.

Refreshments of ice cream and cookies were served later in the dining room to 55 members, with the Comrades club of the league in charge. The host committee was composed of Eldon Behrman and George Rathke. Roland Drinkern, advisor, directed.

DRIVE CAREFULLY -SAVE A LIFE-

THE INSIDE DOPE

Everybody can rest easier now and not have to worry about the Meaning and Basic Psychology of swing. Some university professors have just decided that swing is the special product of the depression psychology or a dodge to release "mental inhibitions following a buildup of emotional pressure generally due to frustration or fear."

Styles certainly change. Who can remember when the professors were attributing jazz, the father of swing, to a desire on the part of the folks of the prosperous '20s to return to the simple, savage life? And who can remember when nobody was attributing ragtime to anything but a fundamental love of rhythm?

But of course those were the days when people didn't know anything about anything.

BOMBS BOOST BOX-OFFICE

Bombers come and homes go, but vicarious romance goes on forever.

The shells of the enemy plow up the Chinese countryside and lift whole villages skyward. Guns rattle in the streets, death comes out of the heavens, the population flees for its life. Where does it go? To the big cities to the south. What does it do? It goes to the movies.

"Variety" Magazine, which reports news of the theater world, states that there's a boom in the movie business in Canton and Hong Kong, and says there's no doubt that the war-harried, flood-driven refugees are responsible.

Prints of American films are carried through war zones at great risk to life and limb and delivered intact at the theaters so that refugees, fresh from a bullet-riddled village, may sit in a darkened movie house and watch drama.

But don't scoff. Under the circumstances, a little improbable theatrical fluff from afar must be pretty welcome fare.

FORCING SOCIALISM ON US

The New York Herald-Tribune, in a recent issue, had a remarkable review of the drive now being made by the Public Works Administration to force San Francisco to go into the distribution of electricity.

A technical construction of the Baker Act of 1913 making Federal lands available to San Francisco's use in building the Hetch Hetchy reservoir in the Sierra Nevada mountains, is that the city cannot sell its power to San Francisco as it has been doing, for more than $2,000,000 a year, but must distribute it itself.

On six occasions between 1925 and 1937, the people voted down bond burdens for the city to acquire its own distributing system, and as late as a year ago, the city turned down in a popular referendum, a proposal for municipal ownership.

Now San Francisco has been served with notice that $100,000,000 in local PWA construction projects will be held up indefinitely unless the city establishes a municipally-owned power distribution system, displacing the local private utility which, incidentally, is rendering one of the best services in the United States.

Just why the Public Works Administration should seek to destroy a private company's business and hold up public relief funds as a club to force a socialistic undertaking on a large city, is hard to understand. If San Francisco had no electric service, there would be reason for using the taxpayers' money to get it. But what good reason is there for using taxpayers' funds to force a private company out of business in a given territory, load a city with debt, destroy revenue which a city is now getting, remove some of the most valuable private property from the assessment rolls, in return for giving people what—the same electric service they now are receiving?

What a farce in the face of statements that government wants to cooperate with business to help it create real jobs instead of political relief jobs. How can any industry or investor feel safe to go ahead with needed improvements and expansion which would put men to work, when government treats established undertakings in this manner? Is there anything fair, democratic or American about such a bulldozing policy?

TWELVE MILLION OWN STOCK

We have heard a lot about the concentration of wealth and economic control in America among a mere handful of persons. But conclusions just arrived at by Barron's Financial magazine, which has attempted to answer the question of ownership of leading business corporations in the United States, throw a surprising light on the situation.

Among the significant conclusions reached by the magazine in its survey is that more than 12,000,000 people own common stock in 1,000 leading corporations in the United States. The survey further shows that there are more stockholders of American corporations than ever before; that the increase in common stock investment has been more rapid in the 1920s than in the 1910s and that investors have been turning since the big crash from railroads to industrial corporations.

We do not know whether the wide ownership of common stock refutes effectively the charge that American business and industrial control is dominated by a few bankers and financiers. But while the figures may not disprove that concentration of financial authority which at intervals since the turn of the century has been the subject of much concern it is a fact that the power and prestige of certain of the large investment banking houses of the nation have diminished markedly in the last decade. This was during the period in which business enterprise had been most widely extended.

Wide participation by the public in ownership of our large industries and businesses is a wholesome development and one which should be a bulwark against adoption and spread of radical philosophies. —Rockford, (Ill.) Register-Republic.

AN IMPORTANT STUDY

The study by the American Federation of Investors of 150 business concerns, which was published in yesterday's Tribune, is a mine of information about business enterprise in this country. The concerns studied constitute an important segment of American industry. With assets of $1 billion dollars they gave employment during 1927 to an average of more than 3 million persons.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Hoiles

WHERE IS THE PLENTY?

The writer recently came in contact with a couple of fine individuals who have the best of intentions and who occupy rather important positions in society. One was a Sunday school teacher and the other a preacher. Both of them made the statement that there is plenty for everyone.

When we objected to this statement and said it was not correct, one of the gentlemen contended that there were so many oranges that they were throwing them away rather than giving them to the poor. Just as if this were evidence that there is plenty of everything.

It would be just as logical to say that there was plenty of water in Southern California because at certain periods of the year some water runs into the ocean.

If these people who produce oranges had plenty of everything they of course would be glad to give their oranges away but the fact that the producers of oranges do not have plenty and produce them with the sole idea of trading these oranges for things they need is evidence that there is not plenty of everything.

A doctrine of this kind does an infinite amount of harm because if this statement be true, as made by these men in positions of confidence and respect, then it is a crime that people have to suffer or have to deprive themselves of the comforts of life. And when this kind of loose, careless statements are made by men of the cloth, for whom the great mass of people have a great deal of respect as to their wisdom, it causes endless confusion. It causes customs and laws to be passed that prevent the accumulation of capital that makes possible a higher standard of living. It causes envy, hate and jealousy that makes classes between people. It is undoubtedly careless statements like this that have created opinion, that have paralyzed business and thrown millions of people out of work, and lowered the standard of living of all the rest of the people. It is hard to estimate the damage that can be done by these careless statements made by people in public, sheltered positions.

When these people are asked to explain their position, they invariably display a distaste for further analysis. They seem to think that their word is final.

Jesus always would answer questions on what he was preaching or advocating, but these people evidently believe that because they have positions in the church they are sheltered and need not have their statements subjected to any analysis by people who have made a life study of production and distribution of goods and services.

The columns of this paper are open to anyone who has any evidence to prove that this is a land of plenty and that everyone can have all the comforts of life that he needs.

JESSE JONES' ADVICE TO BANKERS

The recent warning of Jesse Jones—that if the bankers were not more willing to loan, the government would be forced to loan—certainly does the bankers a great injustice. To accuse the bankers of not being willing to make loans, is about as absurd as it is to accuse the orange growers, or wheat growers with abundant crops, of not being willing to sell them.

The fact of the matter is that the bankers making long time loans during the twenties is one of the primary causes for the worst depression in our history. And now the head of a great government commission, is advising the banks to do exactly what they should not do and what got them and the people in trouble previously.

The government is certainly hard up for an out for the failure of their plans to bring back good times when they have to make the bankers the "goats" by suggesting they do things which every sound, honest banker knows they should not do and which the banks of England and Canada have never done.

The columns of this paper are open to any New Dealer to defend such absurd advice.

Thus, they had about as many on their pay rolls last year as are now on the rolls of WPA. Although the number of employees represented is large, they are not the most numerous group with a stake in the businesses, the study shows these companies had 6 million 490 thousand stockholders. Thus there are twice as many stockholders as there are employees.

For supplying the capital which created 3 million jobs and for taking the risks of loss these stockholders were paid dividends in 1937 which averaged $1.95 per share of stock. Those dividends were that large because of the surplus earnings tax which punished firms that did not disburse all that remained of earnings after the taxes were paid. In years like the present in which earnings are scant the dividends no doubt will average much smaller.

That figure of $1.95 a share for dividends can be compared with another figure, the amount of taxes paid by the concerns. That is $2.62 per share of stock. Thus stockholders last year were supplying capital and taking risks which benefited others more than themselves.

How the burdens of taxation have become progressively heavier upon enterprise is shown also by this study. These companies paid taxes in 1937 amounting to 1 billion 631 million dollars. That was 372 million dollars more than the year before, and nearly a billion dollars more than five years earlier.

The taxes collected from these 150 companies in 1937 would have paid the total costs of the federal and all the state governments in 1913 with enough left over to extinguish half the pre-war national debt. This amount, mind you, was exacted from just 150 companies in a single year! The hope for complete and lasting business recovery lies in making it attractive for people of means to supply the capital to start new businesses. Depression results when government discourages the starting of new enterprises. The number of new businesses launched in the first four months of this year was the smallest on record. In the four states used by the government as a sample 5,000 fewer concerns were started in the first four months of 1933 than in the first four months of 1932. The tax which skins its victims alive is avoided by those who can avoid it. —Chicago Tribune.

When Doctors Disagree

General Hugh S.

JOHNSON SAYS

BETHANY BEACH, Del.—Like the trial of Colonel Oberlin Carter forty years earlier, the court-martial of Colonel Giffen reflects no credit on the Army court system. Giffen was charged with "conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman"—specifying that he "maliciously knocking" said hat off, he "Curran-drunk brawling" etc. He was not found guilty of "conduct unbecoming a gentleman" but only of "conduct to the prejudice of good order." Instead of "maliciously knocking" said hat off, he was only guilty of wrongfully taking it off, which instead of being a "drunken brawl" was only the "discredit of the service."

To civilians these quaint distinctions will seem silly. Yet in military law, they are significant. Conviction of "conduct unbecoming a gentleman," leaves no discretion in the court—only mandatory dismissal—a death sentence to honor. Conviction of "conduct to the prejudice," is less important.

The principal part of any Army officer's frugal compensation is the retirement privilege. It takes from 36 to 43 years of honorable service to earn that. Giffen had almost won it. Yet, depending on what interpretation the court martial chose to give this hat trick, Giffen could have lost his lifetime earnings in the twinkling of an eye. Was a particular bit of rough-house (off duty and not in uniform) "wrongfully taking a hat off" or "maliciously knocking it off"? Did this buffoonery constitute "conduct unbecoming" or "conduct to the prejudice"? One decision could mean the ruin of a life and a family—the other a slap on the wrist—either on exactly the same set of facts.

It is a device that makes it possible to "get" any denizen of the dog-house of official displeasure. As I said in an earlier column on courts-martial, injustice through such devices rarely appears. But that isn't the point. The point is that such injustice is possible.

This was shown to be a suit on flimsy pretext. Some of the evidence was faked and contradicted. Plainly the court-martial system was permitted to be used to advance a private end and vent a private grudge. Such a case should never have been permitted to go to trial. It was clearly sloppy, careless and incompetent pre-trial investigation. But the court-martial itself fumbled as badly as the staff judge-advocate.

The finding of a "less included offense" in circumstances as muddy as these is an example of another shortcoming of the court-martial system. Courts-martial are not composed of judges but only of officers temporarily assigned who act as both judge and jury—and then go back to their military responsibility to higher authority. When they get charges approved by the commanding general, they don't like to "let the Old Man completely down." Giffen should have been instantly and indignantly acquitted instead of having his long record smirched with this "slap on the wrist" to save somebody's face.

Fumbling about in the indignation which most commentators have felt, it has been stated that all Army officers drink. Formerly yes—perhaps. Now in the critical world situation, the profession so seriously regards itself that, in few cases, are there more abstemious. It has been frequently remarked, by reason of this highly publicized

"It is for each to utter that which he sincerely believes to be true, and add his unit of influence to all other units of influence, and let the results work themselves out."—Spencer. Contributors are urged to confine their articles to 300 words.

Fellow Citizens:

An editorial appeared in a recent issue of The Register which read: "There can be no possible excuse for using any of the $3,375,000 provided under the new lending-spending bill for projects which compete in any way with private industry. The purpose of the appropriation, as we have been led to believe, is to stimulate business and employment."

Now the above, like most New Deal programs, sounds all right, but I picture that the lending and spending by the government will, indirectly, compete with private industry. For the government to impose heavily increased taxes upon the industrialists, as it has done, and to then use the money for an extravagant lending and spending program, it is in a very large way "competing with private industry, as it has collected by a heavily increased tax and is using millions of dollars through the industrial plants."

What is the use of the government trying to stimulate business in an artificial way and at the same time tax industry to death? It has been reported that taxes on corporations during 1937 exceeded dividends by 34 per cent. And that 150 corporations were forced to pay federal taxes that year of $2.62 per share of stock in contrast to average dividends of $1.95.

Now let us take a look at the high cost of work being done by the government in the name of relief for unemployed. In the Los Angeles Times of July 30 I read—"As a community, this city is being soaked not only to pay for extravagant waste here, but states and cities."

The government's artificial way of creating prosperity by heavily increased taxes on industry and by pump-priming in order to have money to spend, and by building thousands of costly projects which will consume raw materials and employ labor for a time only, is sure to react in a losing way.

Just a one man's opinion, J. A. AUKERMAN Santa Ana.

Fellow Citizens: Paul C. Phillips' July 23 Clearing House letter makes me lose faith in him. He seems to think "a gentleman of the medical profession" has no business to tell the world how to "cure our economic ills," and that no one but those with a "training in economics" could pull this nation out of its present chaotic misery.

If those with a "training in economics" were that smart why did they not do something about it long ago and not wait for a "gentleman of the medical profession," who's daily professional duties brought him in contact with many suffering from malnutrition caused by the lack of money because of the depression, and who's medical experience kept his mind alert to find remedies for every ailment, so that the source of all knowledge led him to see the plan that now absorbs the interest of millions who feel our economic foundation sinking and slipping into ruin.

No, those with a "training in economics" have proven to be useless in the present need. Action and results are imperative. Dr. Francis E. Townsend is the only man in the world who has done something about it and what he started a few years ago is trial, that the high command is hypocritical in such matters. I don't believe it. Somebody slipped in this corps area and this court-martial did more to "discredit the service" than Giffen. Just wait until the cool practical intelligences of the present Judge Advocate General and Chief of Staff have a crack at it. The seat of somebody's pants will ring like a bell—and it won't be Giffen's.

YOU AND YOUR Nation's Affairs

THE PASSING OF A LIBERAL

BY ERIK MCKINLEY ERIKSSON
Professor of History, University of Southern California

The recent death of Justice Benjamin N. Cardozo removed from the supreme court one of its outstanding liberals. Appointed to the bench President Hoover early in 1932, Justice Cardozo carried on the liberal traditions established by his predecessor, Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Because of his liberalism, Justice Cardozo was expected to be "judicially friendly" to the New Deal. While this expectation was largely realized, he was by no means inclined to uphold the constitutionality of New Deal measures merely because they were alleged to be liberal. This is demonstrated by the fact that, in the period from 1934 to 1936, he voted against the New Deal in eight decisions out of the 14 lost by the government.

In February, 1934, he participated in a unanimous decision holding that the pay of federal judges retired under the provisions of a 1919 law could not be reduced. In the following June, he joined in another unanimous decision ruling unconstitutional a provision in the so-called economy act of 1933 cancelling World War veterans' term insurance.

On February 18, 1935, he helped the New Deal win 5 to 4 decisions validating its anti-hoarding program and upholding its right to cancel gold clauses in private, municipal and state obligations. But in the third gold decision, he was one of the eight justices who declared that congress had no constitutional right to cancel the gold clauses in its own bonds.

On May 27, 1935, he again lined up against the New Deal when he sided with his colleagues in three unanimous decisions invalidating important phases of the new "liberalism." One of these decisions declared unconstitutional the original Frazier-Lemke farm mortgagor act. Another decision held that the President had no right to remove a member of the Federal Trade Commission except for reasons specified by congress.

While he voted against the New Deal eight times in constitutional decisions, Justice Cardozo supported the government in no less than 28 such decisions up to early December, 1937, when his health gave way. Probably his most important aid to the New Deal was through his authorship of the 1937 decisions upholding the old age annuity and unemployment insurance provisions of the federal social security act of 1935. No more liberal decisions have ever been rendered by the supreme court than these which gave a new and broader meaning to the general welfare clause of the Constitution.

The record of Justice Cardozo was a notable one. It shows that he was a liberal in the true sense who could and would distinguish between objectives and methods.

News Behind The News

By PAUL MALLON

World Copyright 1933 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—The doctors were not much excited over the justice departments decision that they are a monopoly. They have not had much to say about it in the press. But they have a good lawyer or two and have been privately informed that if they are a monopoly so is the American Bar association, the standing committee of Washington newspaper correspondents and every other professional group maintaining arbitrary standards for their profession.

Consequently there does not seem to be much of a prospect that the medical association will accept the government invitation to come around and fix things up by promising to let the group health association have hospital and surgical standing. The doctor's first judgment was that it would be better to let a court decide whether the justice department knows what a monopoly is.

The inside on this astounding new national New Deal move as the physicians see it is simply this: Mr. Roosevelt likes group health associations, thinks they are a good thing. He said as much at a recent press conference. The justice department has, therefore, decided to help the group health people fight the American Medical association and subsidiaries by a novel construction of the antitrust law which permits punitive court action, thus to frighten the medical associations into concessions.

The inner slant of the justice department is a longer and more circuitous story, to wit: The group health association is a co-op now composed of 2568 government employees who pay $3.30 a month for a family membership and $2.20 for an individual membership. For this they get surgical operations, professional advice, home calls, hospitalization in semi-private or private rooms, limited to the first 21 days of illness.

But they cannot get the boards of hospitals here to approve their surgeons. Every time one of the members needs an operation, the association must employ a surgeon in good medical association (or at least in good hospital) standing. One of their doctors was formerly a member of the District of Columbia Medical society. He resigned on joining group health. He withdrew his resignation, requested recognition, was denied it and thereafter was expelled for "unethical conduct," which may or may not have consisted of joining group health.

A group health surgeon, member of the Texas Medical association (also a subsidiary of the A. M. A.) was turned down when he tried to get in. The justice department suspects and will try to prove that the D. C. M. S. is acting under guidance of the A. M. A. is going around whispering to hospital boards that the group health doctors should not be allowed in.

The point which interests both politicians and lawyers is the method which the government chose to aid group health. Instead of lending it money, or appointing a national medical relations board or taking any of the customary steps to promote group interests, the government is using the law enforcement agency in a punitive way to promote a co-op against established business. This is in accordance with the developing justice department theory, first pronounced by assistant attorney general Robert Jackson before a senate committee and practiced in the auto case, oil cases and others, namely—that the law enforcement agency of government is using the law as a blackjack to beat whomever it conceives to be a social or economic adversary into submission. It would simply mean the justice department is misnamed and has become instead a prosecution department to enforce, not alone the law, but social and economic theories.

This interpretation, some very eminent lawyers say, might give Mr. Roosevelt jurisdiction over the American Bar association, the news-men here and others, if his prosecution department thought he would like to get it. The standing committee of correspondents, for instance, has denied to some applicants the right of entry into the press galleries of congress and thereby has deprived them of the right of doing news business here. It is a committee of news-men elected to maintain the standards and decorum of the profession. If the justice department is right about the A. M. A., the S. C. C. is also a monopoly, and in restraint of trade. Doctors, however, contend that not they, but group health is actually in "restraint of trade," because it takes away their business. They foresee the chance that the government will do the same thing to them, it did to the slaves of the right of doing news business here. Some visionaries conjure the dream conclusion of the present move as an ultimate curtailment of private medical practice to the point where group health associations will do all the business. The courts, however, will probably decide.
